... into our eyes and see what makes up a true Titan! The power deep within our mind and soul pushes us towards one common goal... to unite us together as one. "The diversity here helps us to makes friends easier," Kay Htun (03). With one good look THROUGH OUR EYES ... you will see our determination, our strengths, our weaknesses, and our hopes and dreams within STUDENT LIFE. These experiences, whether they were happy or sad, good or bad, helped us become wiser and stronger."My friends helped me through thick and thin and never left me hanging," commented Van Do (04). A CLOSER LOOK at us will show the community that the deeds and the SERVICES of a Titan will always be remembered along with our strong sense of unity. "I was happy in helping my community by participating in the Trick or Treating For Cans, alongside with my friends," said Tiffany Royster (02). Our diversity was not a disadvantage, but rather an advantage that helped prove that Titan pride will forever triumph as long as we remained united. When SEEING IS BELIEVING was required, the results were students who pushed themselves beyond what was expected and into a whole new class of students. "Hard work and studying pays off when it comes to grades," said Tim Chen (02). With the motivation and drive from the Titan Alumni, a higher bar in ACADEMICS has been set. "Its the hard working students that makes the job of teachers much easier," said Ed Stark (History Teacher). The willpower within the EYE OF THE TITAN showed no fear, no pain, and no sign of defeat against our opponents on the field of any SPORT. The "never give up and never surrender" mindset carried our Titan athletes to a whole new playing field and showed that the spirit of a Titan will never fade and will never be defeated. "Even though we didn't win all our games, its how we played that makes the differences," commented Arman Rezaee (03).

ALL EYES ON US now! "It's the PEOPLE that make our school the best," said Peter Wong (02). With ONE LAST LOOK, this is where we can leave our legacy and last words before graduating. Time is only a measurement, but one day, the world would recognize that the spirit of the Titan rose above all expectations and would never be forgotten when they look...."

Through our EYES

Walk in our shoes, live a day in our lives, see what we see, through our eyes... Looking through these pages, reading between the lines, remembering all the times: The moments that brought a tear to your eyes, and the ones that brought a smile upon your face. As Freshmen you looked into the unkown, as Sophomores you searched for answers, as Juniors you climbed one step up, and finally as Seniors you cast a final look back. The diversity in our school was an open door and a positive experience for all because we, early in life learned to not be narrow minded, and were educated by many cultures aside from our own. " Diversity are the different faces and backgrounds of the people that I encounter each day," explained Vicki Ton (02). We may be different people, from different places, but somewhere in the back of our minds we haved carried memories of each other." I like the diversity here, beacuse it gives me a chance to get influenced by other cultures," said Brian Walkins (03). Being a high school student is not an easy task." I definitely faced some challenges, but all in all, it turned out right," remarked Nazeera Salak (02). It all happed in the blink of an eye; one day it had just begun, and the next it was over. If you can appreciate what you have learned from those you have met it will set you down the path of a succesful future. As each class moved closer to graduation , they will not only have taken away wisdom, but taken away the lessons they learned here at John F. Kennedy High. The lessons learned... will last a life time.

A Vision of Unity...

September 11, 2001, a day in which all eyes in America focused on a spark in the distant skies to the east. Many Americans, were transfixed to their television or their radios to hear the breaking news in the wake of this tragedy, a tragedy not only to those who were directly affected but also to all Americans. A tranquil morning was shattered by the screams of utter horror at the sight of the World Trade Center burning. The reaction that most students had was that of complete shock. The event flooded the media that morning. In that blinding flash, many lives were extinguished and the populace of a nation was changed forever.

That tragedy reminded Americans that they were not invulnerable from such an attack. However, the country was quick to realize a new sense of unity. The same unity was born on the campus. Despite the sea of cultures, the students merged together as one voice. Flags were raised as a symbol of America's newly revived sense of nationalism. The Star Spangeld Banner served as a symbol of defiance and determination to survive against such a diabolical and underhanded attack upon the liberty and sanctity of the United States. The newfound feeling of patriotism spread like wildfire across the country and lit an inferno in the hearts and minds of the students of Kennedy High. Students began to gallantly display the symbol of our country; flags were placed in backpacks, on shirts, held in hands, placed on the windshields and antenna of cars, eveywhere the eye could see. Like the tide of nationalism that swept the nation, a tide of students flocked before the flag to recite the Pledge of Allegiance and observe a moment of silence in memory of the lives lost that ill fated morning. Because of that morning, the Titan spirit was unified under the banner of our country.

Though the fires in New York have been extinguished, the fire of freedom shall continue to blaze in the hearts of the Titan and the American people, kindling its flame forever.

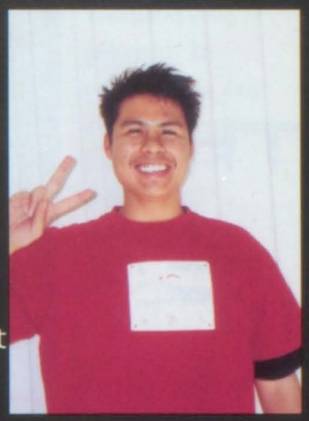
11, 2001

When I first heard about the Twin Towers, I felt surreal. It was a big shock to me, because I was there just a few months ago. My grandpa works near the area, so we were worried about him. Fortunately, he was ok.



Chris Portugal (02)

I was shocked and saddened by what happened. I still can't believe what happened in New York, but I still believe that America will get through this and survive after this disaster.

Erica Brechtel (03)

I was born and raised in New York City and my ties there are deep. I have enormous sadness for the people of New York and for the soul of a city that raised me. It is a tragic time in our world's history.

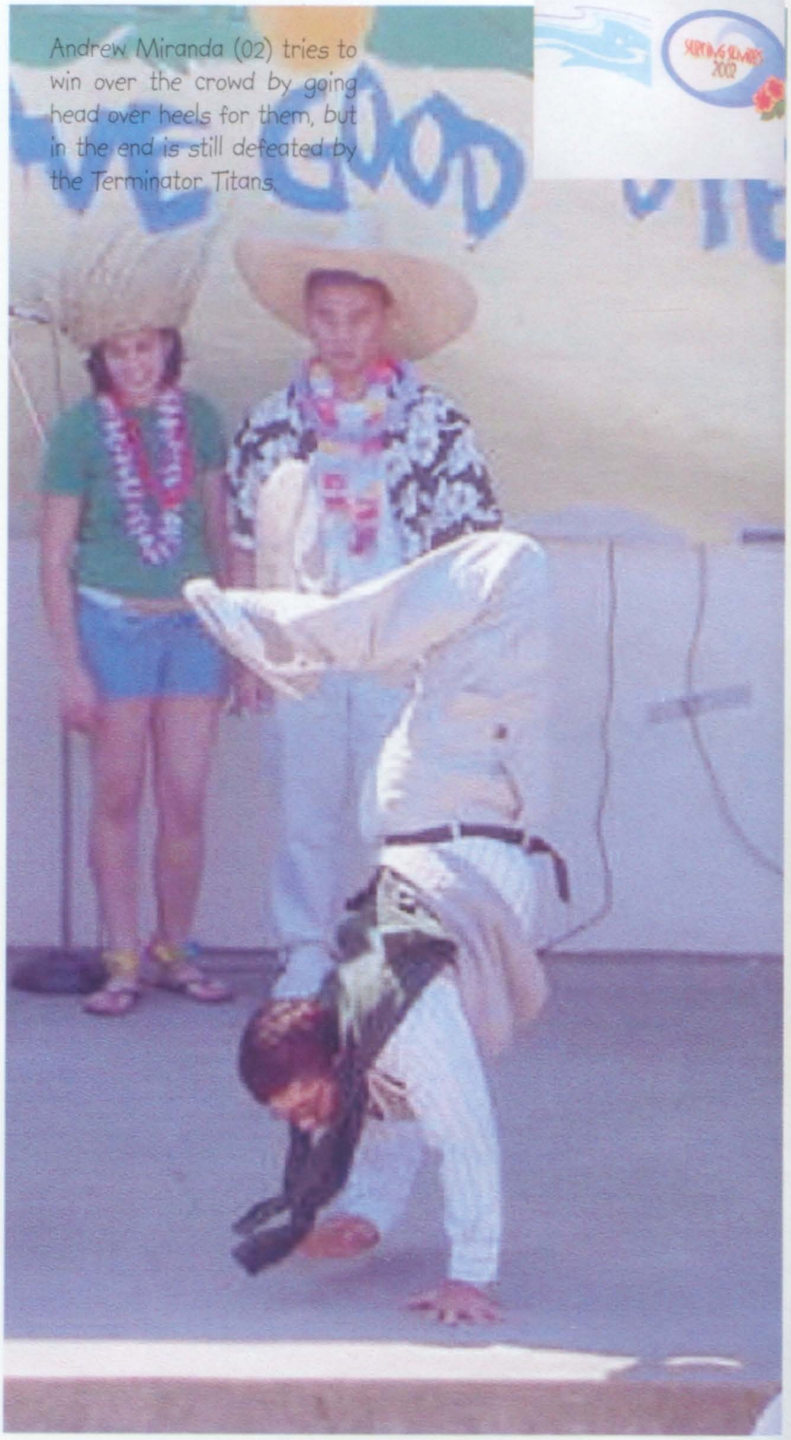
THE FINAL WAVE



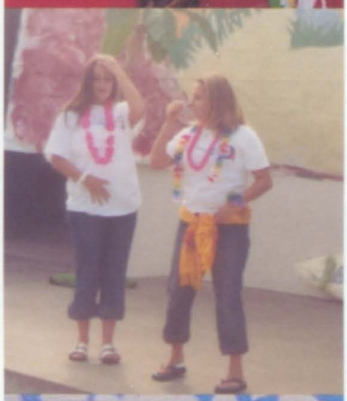
Andrew Miranda (02) tries to win over the crowd by going head over heels for them, but in the end is still defeated by the Terminator Titans.

"Watch out, coming through...we're the class of 02'!" The seniors surfed into their final year of high school with the hope and determination of leaving Kennedy with an unforgettable Spirit Week. "I wanted to be remembered after we left," said James Obergfell (02)(Top). "It took months of preparation and Spirit Week was a great way to bond with people in our class. We put all our heart into it and went out with a bang!" said Erica Nieto (02)(Middle). In 1998, the class of '02 walked into Kennedy's halls not knowing what spirit week was all about or the fun and memories it had in store for them. Over the past four years they gained enough experience to be, undoubtedly, named first place. Joyce Roldan (02)(Bottom) stated,"I am extremely proud to be a senior and shout my class number '02!" The memories will never fade of how special that week was and how it felt to give their final wave good-bye.

The seniors display their funky chicken while cheering in the amphitheater at lunch. You could hear their spirit from across the campus. (top)

A bunch of seniors take a break from the all night session to drink some root beer and enjoy the rest of the night. (bottom)

Russel Davis (02) and Joey Villahueva (02), get ready to pass out leis, but instead attempt to keep all of them for themselves.



Daniella Serpa (02) and Nathalia Herrera (02) shake it at the luau.

Connie Cavallas (02), and Jeff Shih (02), cheerfully introduce the Terminator Titans in a song.

The Vicious Vikings from Irvington get down and boogie because they're 'too legit to quit.'

What was the best part of spirit week?

"I enjoyed seing our seniors being so dedicated to cheering and practicing the morning after the all-night work session. Also, I got a chance to bond with our sister class."

- Garrison Finkes (02)

"I had fun building the centerpiece for our class. It made me feel like I contributed to Spirit Week. The best part was watching everyone's reaction when they walked through the quad."

- Andy Barret (02)

"My favorite part was when we got to cheer and represent our class. I liked how we got to throw confetti at our underclassmen in the senior walk-in."

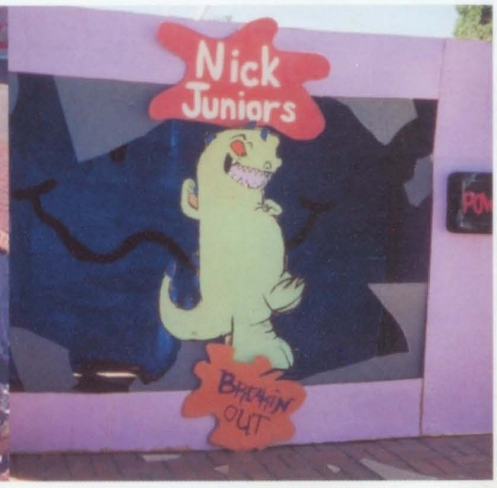
- Sulaimon Rasuli (02)

"Yeah! They picked me to be a judge!" screams Amanda Silva (03) as she jumps for joy. WOO HOO!!

"Let me see your Ren and Stimpy..Happy Happy Joy Joy," shout the Juniors while they hype up the crowd with their spirited outbursts. (top)

The tiny juniors sit and watch their favorite T.V. show when Reptar smashes the glass and breaks out. (bottom)

Hey Steve..another clue!! No silly, it's just MaryJo Aquino (03) wagging her tail.



"WHAT WOULD YOU DO ? ! ? " asks Sim Kaur (03) before getting hit in the face with a cream pie.

Who lives in a pineapple under the sea? SPONGE BOB SQUARE PANTS!! Or is it Linh Huynh (03) playing the role of Sponge Bob?.

What is the best part of Spirit Week?

"I think the best part is always the dance. Preparation and practices were exciting. But to see it all put together was great."

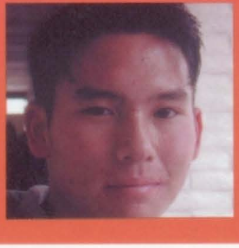
- Dustin Nahale (03)

"You lose yourself, you get sick, and it basically takes the life out of you. That's the best part of spirit week."

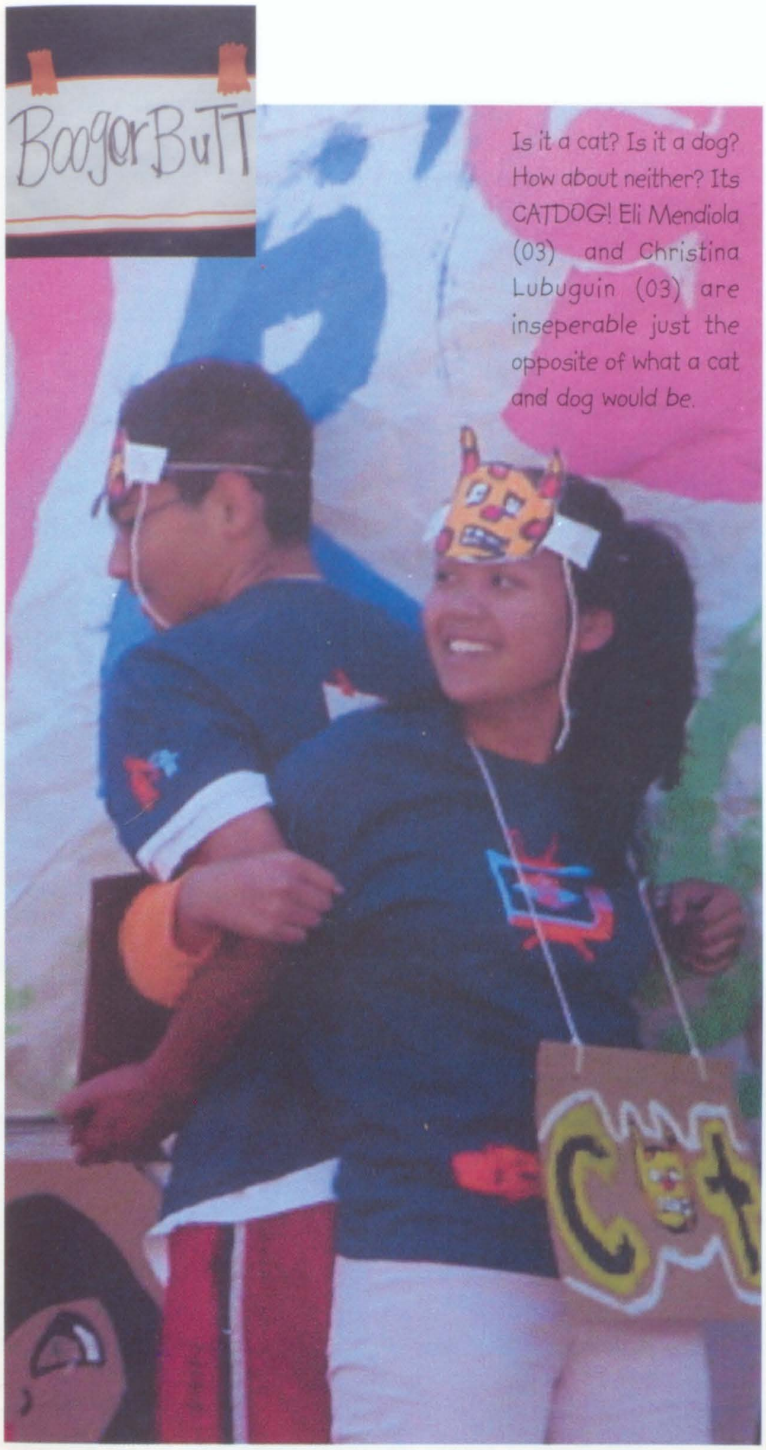
- Cara Alf. Cuison (03)

"I thought the junior dance was pretty sweet. Everyone seemed to be on it and it turned out pretty good. MUCH PROPS TO THE CLASS OF '03!"

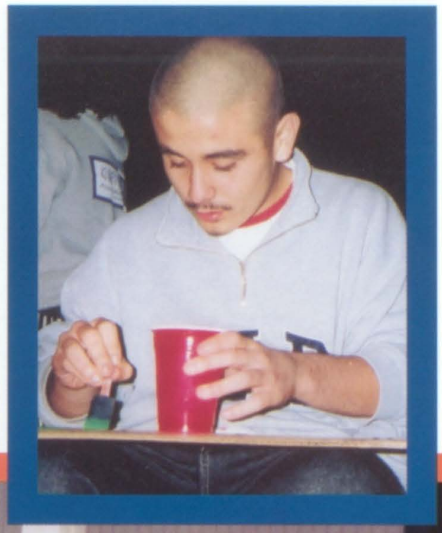
- Hao Nguyen (03)

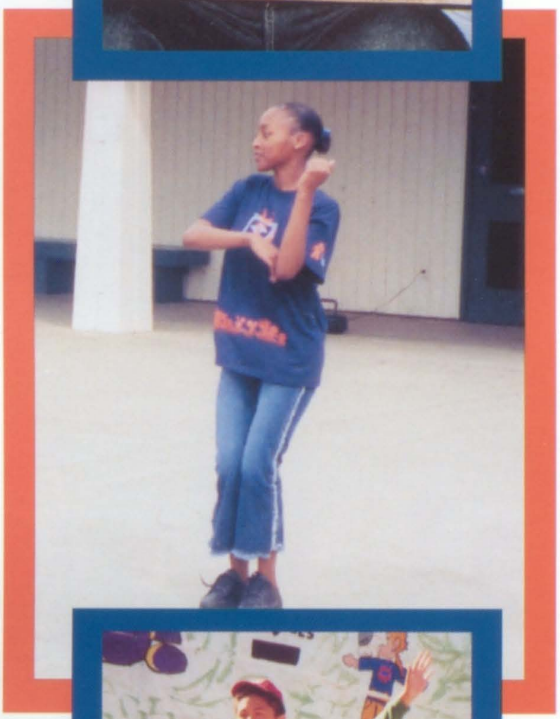


Nick Juniors



Is it a cat? Is it a dog? How about neither? Its CATDOG! Eli Mendiola (03) and Christina Lubuguin (03) are inseperable just the opposite of what a cat and dog would be.





HEY..ITS ARNOLD, BLUE, AND CATDOG! Have I been sucked into the TV? No way, it's just the amazing murals, costumes, and centerpiece of the Nick Juniors! "Nobody expected me to do this kind of stuff but I have school spirit and we needed to be prepared so we could have fun!" exclaimed Guillermo Perez (03)(Top). All their hard work paid off, especially when it came to the centerpiece. Spirit Week helped many, stressed out juniors, take their minds off of studying, for a week of fun, school spirit, and unity. "Just getting out there and performing was tight. All the energy gets in you and gets you all hyped up. It was hecka fun!" commented Venecia Allen (03) (Middle).

When Dagget and Norby showed their ugly sides, they sure could be angry beavers. During a break in filming, they started arguing about which was better, Dag and his good buddies from K.H.S. or Norby and his terrible sidekicks from W.H.S. To settle the arguement, they decided to have apageant to determine who was best. While Kennedy's toons were dancing, Helga went to the judges and bribed them! After the judges decided that W.H.S. had won, Catdog discovered what they had done. Following a dispute, the evil toons refused to return the trophy, that was unfairly won, to it's rightful owner. All the toons reached an agreement to settle the squabble at the Cartoon Olympics, where the final event proved who was best!

Having smashed the glass that seperated reality from cartoons,the Juniors soared into 2nd place. "After being involved for 3 years now, this year was set apart from the rest because we were on our own with no sister class to help and everyone pulled together to ge the job done," stated Josh Chow (03)(Bottom). Hey Arnold, you're right! But wait until next year...

SOPH-WARS

"Luke Skywalker, I am your mother!" The evil Darth Vader (Kayla Jones '04) yells as he is defeated by the Soph Wars.

The class of '04 had more spirit since they evolved from being shy Freshmen into fearless Sophomores. "We have more spirit this time around because we had some experience from last year," said Elizabeth Kresin (04)(Top) Exhausted from trying to get their murals, skit, and dance ready, they managed to accomplish the duties that come with participating in Spirit Week. "I think Spirit Week is stressful when it comes to getting things done, but in the end it's worth it because we have fun!" said Nancy Hang (04) (Middle).

In a galaxy beyond all other galaxies, the evil Darth Vader was in pursuit of ultimate control. With his Washington troops under his command, he set out for other planets to destroy. However, one planet remained; it was Kennedy. Kennedy was warned beforehand of the impending doom and planned for battle. With their wise strategy, they succeeded in beating Darth Vader. Darth Vader planned revenge upon the Soph Wars. While they celebrated their victory against Washington, Darth Vader captured the one thing that carried the Kennedy spirit: Master Yoda. Luke Skywalker instinctively knew that Darth Vader had abducted Yoda, so Luke and Leia visited Vader. Once inside Vader's Star Destroyer, Luke and Leia opened a door and saw Yoda tied down. Luke yelled to Vader that he was the true possessor of the Kennedy spirit, not Yoda. The Soph Wars won the battle against Darth Vader and Washington. "We may not have won Spirit Week, but we won as a school," said Simon Wiscombe (04) (Bottom)

"Let me see your Light Saber!" Schwing! Fereshta Ashufta (04) and Marcella Zalpa (04) are filled with animation as they cheer for their class.(top)

Hanging loose? The Sophomores prepare their banner the night before their big day. (bottom)

Monica Munoz (04) "steals" some stars from the dark night sky to string up in the quad.

Luke and Leia take "drag-an" Ewok away so they can get into Vader's Starship Destroyer.

Feeling anxious? Paul Choe (04) eagerly awaits his turn to perform in the skit.

"May the spirirt be with you!" Yoda gives the Soph Wars a few words of good advice as he stands tall in the middle of the quad.

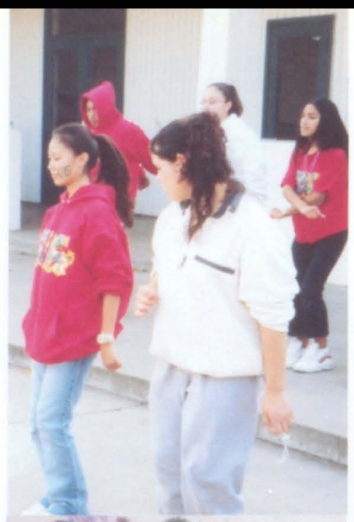
What did you think of Spirit Week?

"I liked the dancing at the rally."
- Vincent Carretero (04)

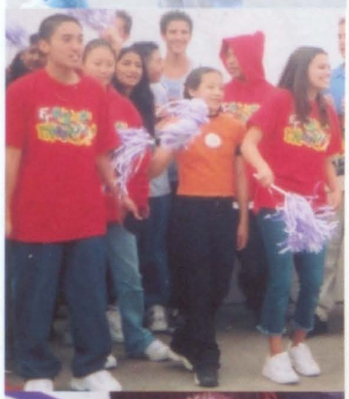
"I thought the best part of Spirit Week was the rally, especially when I got hit in the head with candy!"
- Aaron Zaragoza (04)

"I liked coming to school in the morning and seeing the school decorated and watching the different classes cheering."
- Erica Scoles (04)

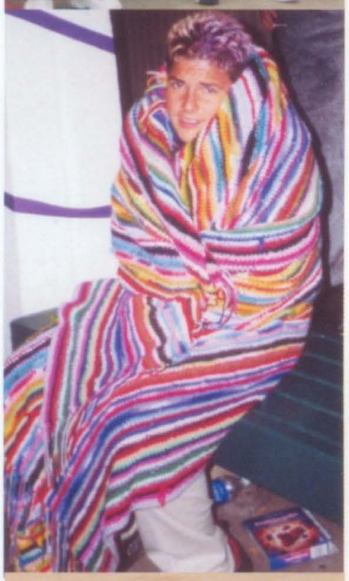
"Getting jiggy with it" Carolina Cha (05), Heather Lozano (05), Sophia Manan (05) and Amanda Lopez (05) are all trying to get ready for the big day.



"Oh! Ah! You wish you were a freshmen!"yelled Isheen Herrera (05), Corazon Ayap (05), and Shree Rodriguez (05).



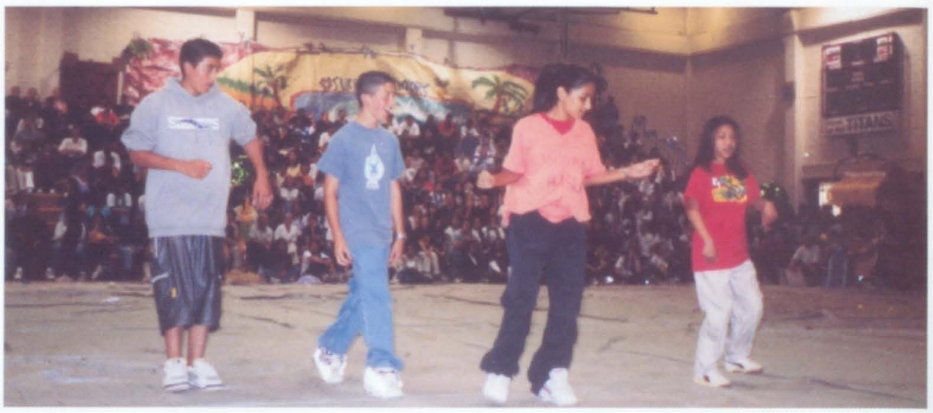
"I want sleep. Leave me alone!" Jeremy Carpender(05), exhausted from helping with the Spirit Week decorations.



Enthusiastic Freshmen, Edeline Sarmiento (05) and Isheen Herrera (05), work hard to paint the perfect mural.

Will Tobar (05), David Cullin (05), Sophia Manan (05) and Marcy Tran (05) showed Washington their new dance style. (top)

Freshmen center piece: Mr. DJ Frosh! (bottom)



How did you like your first experience with Spirit Week?

" What I liked most about Spirit Week was that we got to work together with our friends and I made new friends on the way".

- Wais Hamei (05).

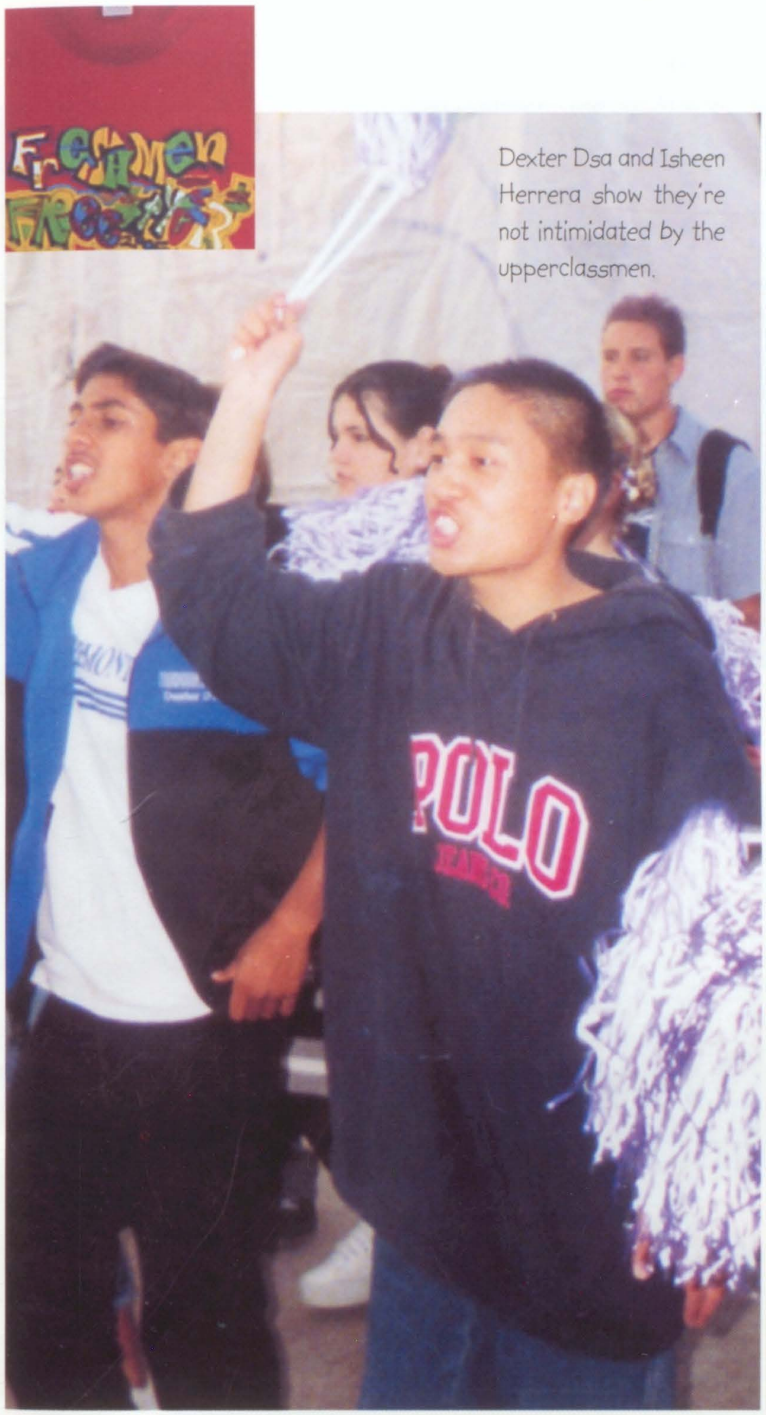
" What I really liked were the competitions we had against the other classes; it was fun to challenge them and to see what they had".

- Corazon Ayap (05)

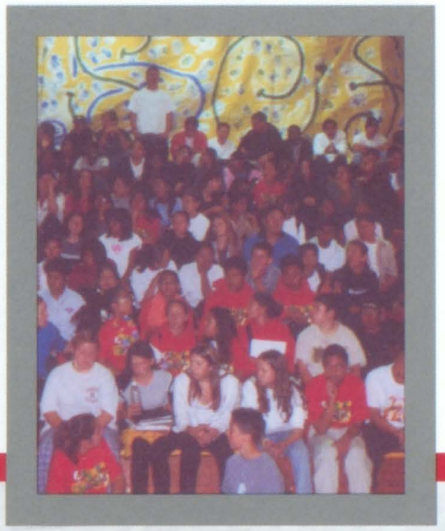
" I had fun participating in all the events of Spirit Week, especially in the skits and dances".

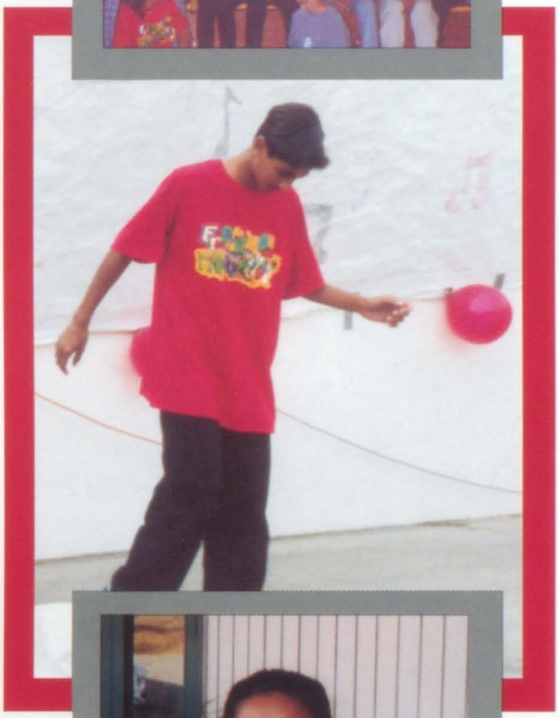
- Adolfo Ureno (05)

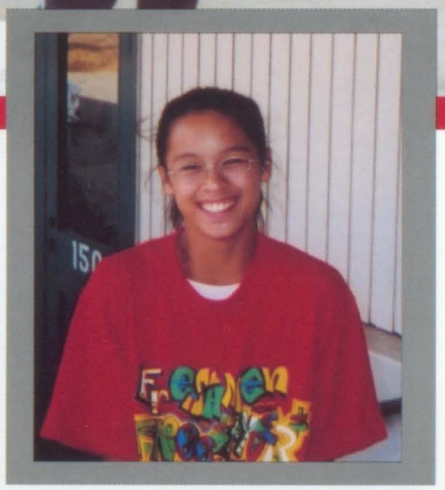
FRESHMEN FREESTYLERS



Dexter Dsa and Isheen Herrera show they're not intimidated by the upperclassmen.





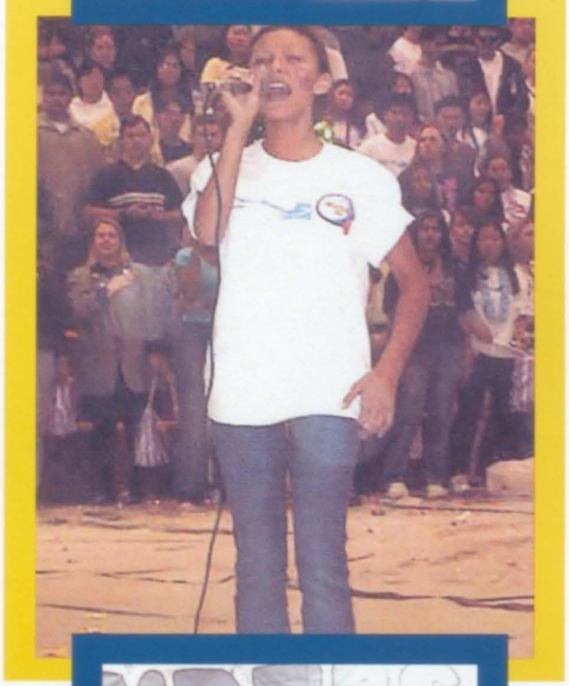


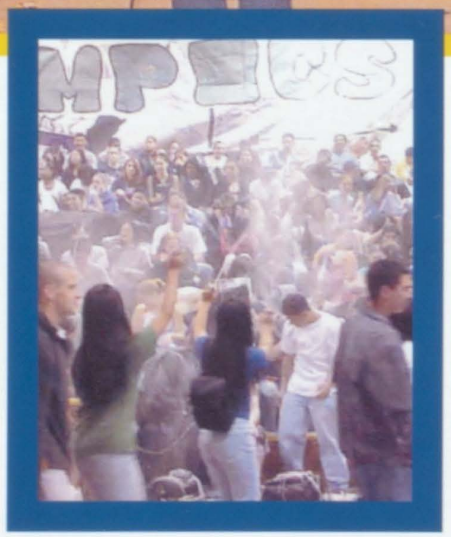
Funky freshmen showed off their spirit by fighting off evil Washington to win back their freestyle dance! With plenty of help form the Nick Juniors, the class of '05 seemed to have a fair start in their first year at Kennedy. The waiting and wondering what happens next seemed to be the hardest part (Top).

The Freshmen Freestylers began their skit by entering a dance competition against the Washington Huskies. They came up with a vicious plan to steal the Titans' sense of style by poisoning their power drinks. Once everyone drank their bottles, the Freshmen lost their dancing spirit and realized the Huskies were the ones responsible. Their only hope to win was to make up their own dance style.

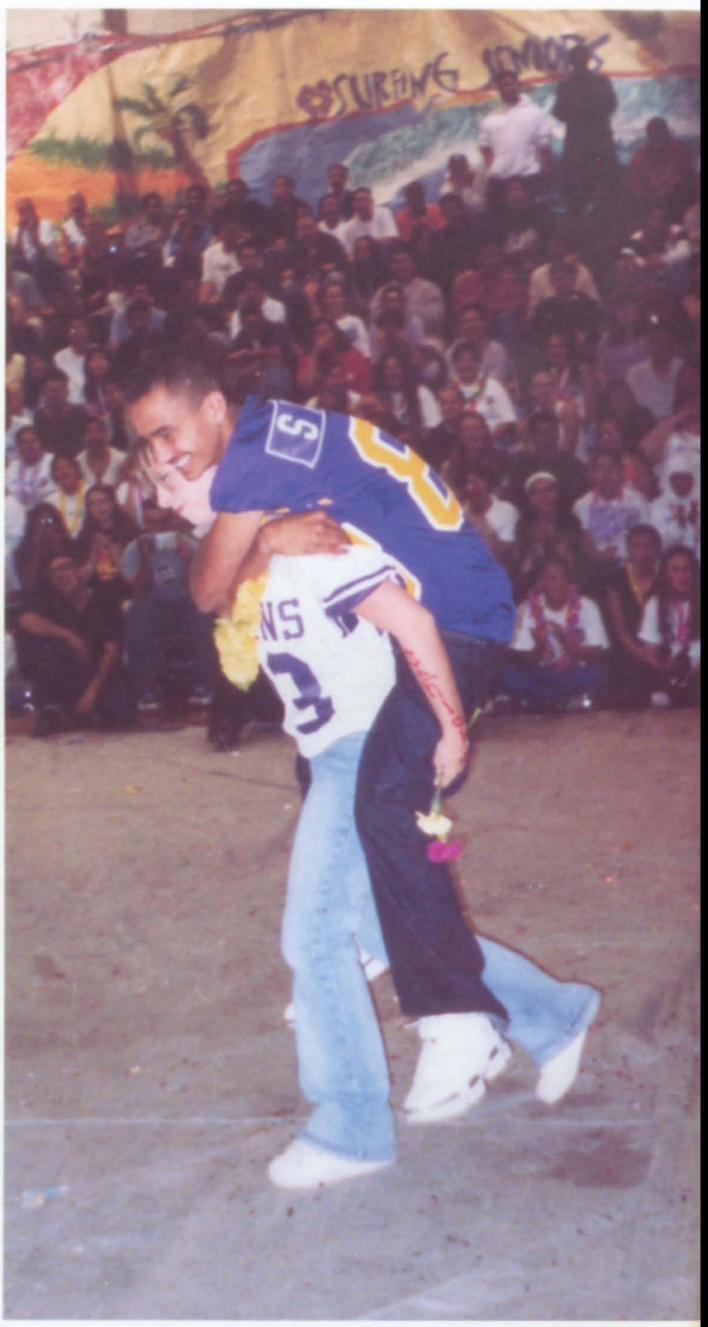
The Freestylers fought back with energy and spunk, winning the dance competition against Washington at the rally. Although the o-fivers struggled hard with their skit, dance routine, and cheer practices during the week, they managed to get through it all. Dexter D'Sa (05)(Middle) comments, "It was a lot of work, but rewarding in the end." Winning fourth place wasn't a bad thing at all; they'll have three more years to work even harder to earn their first place position. "We put a lot of time and effort into it but we made it!", said the proud Class President, Edaline Sarmiento (05)(Bottom).

Together as One





"Gitty Up!!" Harpreet Singh (02) cries as he jumps on the back of Kristin Hammond (02).



This year the Titans chewed up their rivals during Spirit Week. The Huskies might have sounded like a mean dog, but they weren't as vicious as we were. All of the classes strove for the win, but the Surfing Seniors walked away with the Spirit Week victory. The Nick Juniors came in 2nd, followed by the Soph Wars, and the Freshman Freestylers wrapped it all up. Spirit Week was also a time for students to show off their hiddden talents.Sarah Kiggins(02) showed off her talent when she sang the National Anthem to begin our rally. "There were a handful of people who were totally dedicated, others just sat around and had fun," Joey Royster (03) responded when asked if his class seemed dedicated. Some students participated in the all night workshops to prepare for their class' big day; it was their time to come together and fnish last minute props. "It would be nice to extend Spirit Week , to get more practice for the skits," Dylan Shelton(05). Jamie Rojo (02) summed it all up, " Despite all of the fierce competetion throughout the week, we were able to look past all of our differences and unite as the Titans of Kennedy High School."

Top: "We have spirit, yes we do. We have spirit, how about you?" yelled the cheerleaders during the Spirit Week rally.

Bottom: It's not everyday you see the teachers getting down and having fun, but these teachers showed their school spirit and participated in school cheers too.

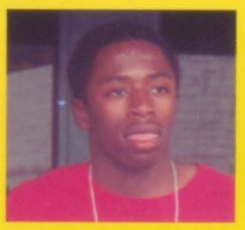
A mysterious masked dancer wows the crowd with his rendition of "Thriller."

Football jersey girls, Katie Qunitana (05), Jenel Glover (05), and Michelle Ramos (02) show support for their players during the rally.

The Kennedy Pride Squad shows their spirit by perfoming at the rally.

Susie Autor (03), and Luis Ruelas (03) dust themselves off after being floured during the Senior walk-in.

WHAT WOULD YOU CHANGE ABOUT SPIRIT WEEK?



"If I could change Spirit Week, I would make the rally longer. Then eveyone could perform their best."

- Novy Brown (03)

"If it were up to me to make Spirit Week different, I'd give each class more time to prepare for their skit and dance."

- Teresa Nguyen (04)

"If I could change anything about Spirit week, it would be that the Seniors are able to throw out anything during the Senior walk-in."

- Jose Villalvazo (02)

Glimpse into the Night

"I wonder who the king and queen are going to be?" Said Raquel Hernandez(03). Every year everyone wonders who will be chosen for homecoming queen and king. The homecoming king and queen candidates for 2002 were Ahmed Erakat, Mark Cruzada, Jeff Shih, and Binh Dao, Jamie Rojo, Jackie Shabata, Khaing Sabe, and Blanche Santos. Anjel Hernandez (01) crowned Rochelle Valles(02) at the football game against Washington. Rochelle said, "I was very shocked, overwhelmed and surprised when they said who the first runner up was and I was the only one standing." Americ Alvarado (01) crowned our king Isaac Corniel (02) the night of the dance."That night, I was very nervous, anxious, and excited," said Isaac.What does it mean to Isaac and Rochelle to have the honor of being king and queen? "I think it's the people that have the most pride for their school and are well-respected," said Isaac. "Well I think it's the people that are well known and liked," said Rochelle. Even though Mark didn't win, he still enjoyed the night with his date, Jill Ayran ('02) (Left picture).

We asked a Kennedy Alumini what their opinions were on the homecoming game, "It's very frustrating for me because I'm used to playing for the school. I want to be playing on the field, but on the other hand it's good to see students representing the school on the field," said Mr. Pfiester. As homecoming came to an end, we stood united and our Titan spirit shined through.

No time for puckering up your lips, we have a game to play! Jerry Torres (02) breaking a tackle against Washington.

There's Jamie Rojo(02) and her dad as they approach the stage for the anoucments!

A Fashionable look...

After taking a closer look at the outside appearances of everyday students, fashion seemed to be a major part of student life. Everyone was always worried about what the new style was and wondered if their outfit would go out of fashion before they even got to wear it out.

Fashion was a never-ending trend; it constantly changed day-by-day, "It's an expression of our individuality," said Michelle Fernandez (03). Personalities were reflected in the way they dressed. From skaters to gothics, preppie to casual; styles and influences were limitless. People were always looking for a new style to make them memorable. "Kennedy had a very diverse fashion, that's a good thing, it makes us unique," stated Nichole Harlan (04).

Fashion wasn't just all about clothes; it was also about shoes, accessories, hats, hairstyles, and more. Tattoos and body piercings were not just for the "Rebels," they were for anyone who wanted to show off a little independence and confidence in themselves. "Tatoos are cool, I want one!" responded Ashley Chelman (05), when asked what she thought about tatoos. Fashion was not just to impress, but to express! Students took pride in how they were viewed and how they presented themselves inside and outside of school.

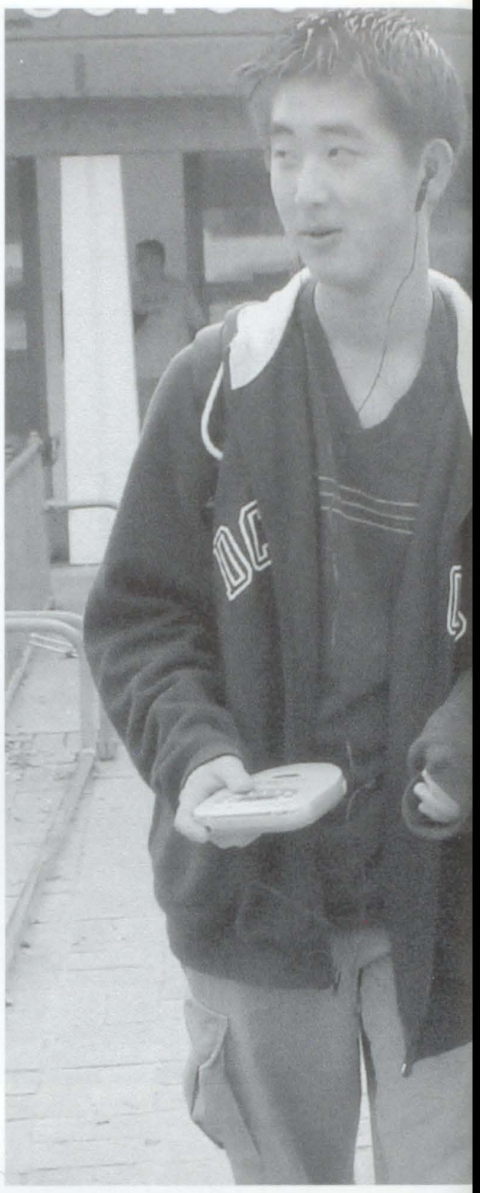
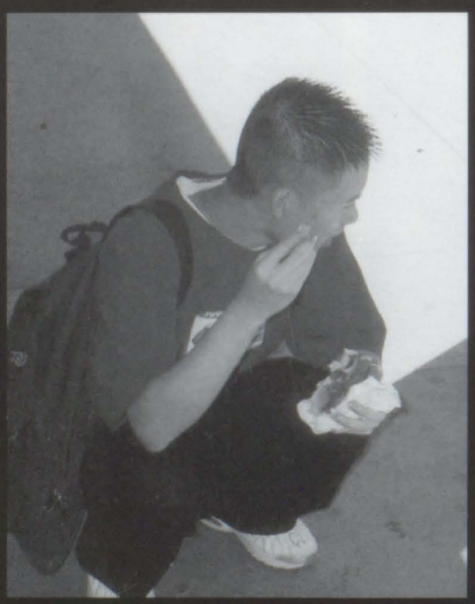
Sitings: Lunch and Technology



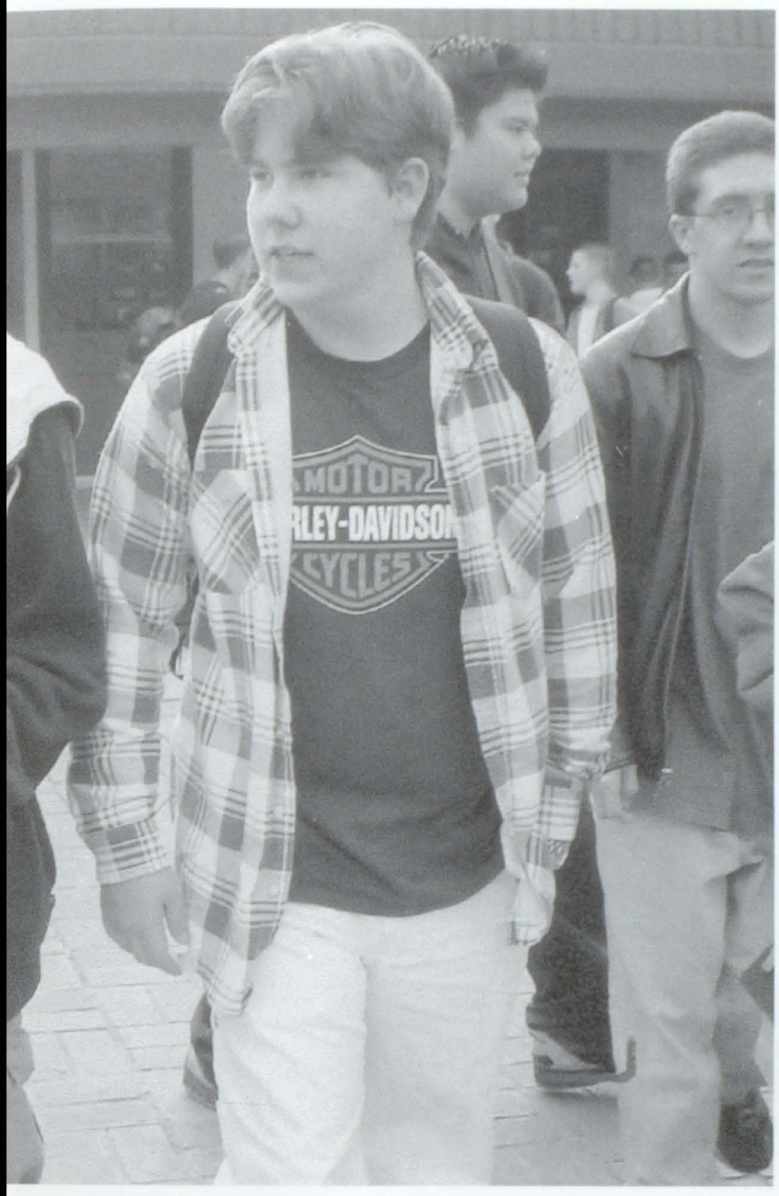
"Ring, Ring,Ring"...the sound of cell phones going off and CD players blasting away as students trotted off to lunch. The myth about lunch was that it was a time to eat and re-energize, but we did so much more. While most students were off in a stampede to escape the grasp of hunger, other students took their load off and relaxed. "I try and get to the bench as fast as I can. Every year the bench has belonged to one of us," said Joyce Roldan (02). Other people could be found at Wendy's and other fast food restaurants, while some students like Ray Hoang (04) read desperately as the clock of doom got closer and closer. "I have to study for the test. My life depends on this test." he hurridly commented. Joshua Chow (03) stood around covering his Nokia Cell phone, "I'm talking to my friend from Moreau. He has lunch right now also." Technoglogy had changed our nation and it affected our school in a big way.



Dung Pham (02) squats in the shade while enjoying his pizza pocket.

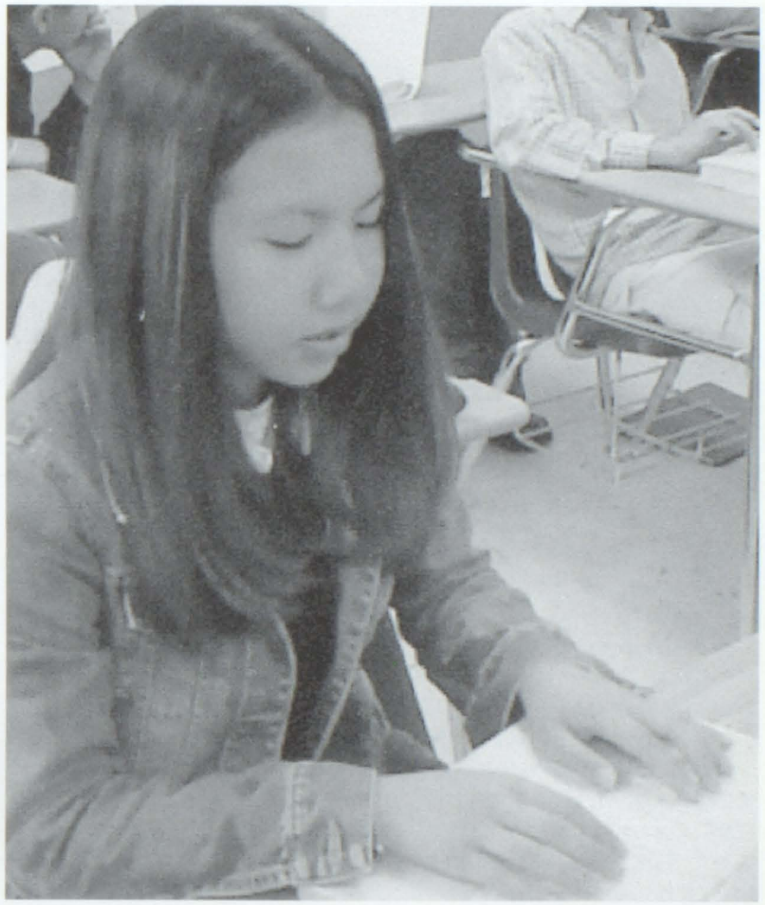
Thien Nguyen (03) eating while chatting with his fellow friends about class.

Linh Huynh (03) reads a magazine for comfort of ending the first three periods.



"Thank goodness for technology, because otherwise I'd be stuck listening to his problems," David Chang (04) jokes about his friend Justin Ventura (03).

Marcie Tran (05) studying with her laptop in class.



"Lunch is a time to think about what to do after school and take a rest btween classes," Christina Peter (02) said, while Kristin (02) and Megan Steinert (02) take time for a quick wrestling match.

Ozvaldo Torres (02) seems to be pretty good at multitasking; talking on his cell phone and going through his locker.

A View of Transportation

Taking each step on the side and crosswalks towards education; pedaling quickly towards knowlegde; waiting for the yellow school bus to arrive; steering the steering wheel, and overcoming each street curve ending in the school parking lot. These are only a few descriptions of what every student experienced getting to and from school. A means of transportation to school was one of the essentials tools towards achieving a proper education . Students had the option to walk, ride a bicycle, take the bus, or to drive to school. "I walked for 15 minutes to school every morning and after school," said Frank Curiel (04). If home was a somewhat farther away, one might to choose to ride a bike. The school bus was one of the most popular means of transportaion for students. "I dont like to bus because is stuffy and crowded," said Jackelyn Dao (03). Most students came to school with their own type of transportation. Student drivers felt that it was a lot easier to drive to and from school. Jillian Ayran (02) supported this by saying,"When I first got my license it was a lot easier to go anywhere without asking anyone." Having a ride was exceedingly easier and less of a struggle than other methods. Keep in mind that most of the students walked, rode bikes, or took the buses. This simply reflected how students were able to get to school to learn.

"Walking to school isn't all that bad. I get time to think by myself and it puts me in a peacecful mindset."

"Riding my bike home from school is much faster than walking, and sometimes its exciting too!"

"Taking the bus to and from school is ok, but everything will change after i get my license."

Justin Medrono (02) (94' 318i BMW), Alex Dinh (02) (00'Civic HB), Derik Tran (02) (93' Del Sol), and Andrew Camasia (02) (00'Civic SI). These four put their heart and soul into their vehicles and it shows.

THE VIEW AFTER SCHOOL

Left: Sit in silence as we watch Daniel Hogan and Chris Mitchell in a tournament of solids and stripes.

Mary Jo Aquino bringing the vibration of sound as she scratches away on her technics 1200s. Rippin' it up like a ripped jean jacket.

Two-Thirty-five!!! School's out, what did we do?... Should we have gone to the library, the park, or gone home and studied? No way! We had too much energy to waste. What the average student did after school was to go home and sleep or hang out with their "peeps" (friends). Jenny Torneros (03) quoted , " I like to chill at my friends house to get away from it all." Some of the unlucky ones had to go to their jobs to support their "independent" teenage lives. Joyce Roldan (02) said, " I need money to keep my self bling blingin." Well, we worked hard at school for seven hours a day, so we played hard for the other seventeen hours. Joseph Reyes (02) said, " I go straight home to lift weights, it gets my mind off my problems." The world can be a very entertaining place and we had so many things those days to keep us interested, such as; movies, T.V., parties, concerts, the internet, video games, etc. Mary Jo Aquino (03) said, " I entertain myself by break dancing, spinning vinyl, and rippin' it up on the mic." Also, sports have made a big impact on a lot of us, Billiards was one of them. "Rack em' up," said Daniel Hogan (02) to his opponent as he broke the balls and sent them flying across the table. Everyone always had something to do after school. What did you do?

Joyce Roldan (02) the supervisor of Erik's deli cafe spends most of her time trying to keep everyone under control.

6:30 - 7:30 is the time for "Friends." Watching T.V. was a great way to forget about school stress.

Sightseeing through Kennedy

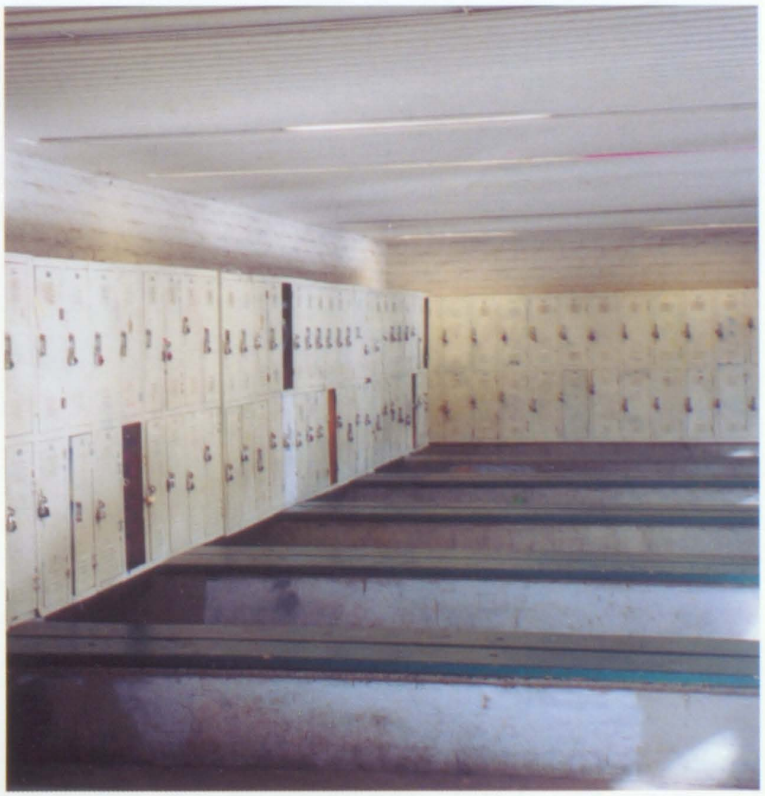
When you think of our school and landmarks together, what comes to mind? What was the most familiar sight to you? For many, it was the most obvious like the flag pole, or the Kennedy sign outside the school. "The most memorable landmark to me was the dungeon, because wild stuff was always going on there," stated Mercedes Thompson (04). Beside the most obvious, there were also the less apparent sights. The junkyard beside the tennis courts, the Titan Alma Mater painted on the gym wall, and even the smelly boy's bathrooms; all are sights (and smells) that students will never forget. "The junkyard is a neat place to find usefull things, but they could clean it up," said Ms. Santillan. Of course no list of Kennedy landmarks would be complete without including the people that we saw every day of our high school years. Coach Webb and Coach Mike, teachers and staff were as memorable and significant as objects around school. "When I think of landmarks around school, I think of Coach Webb and Coach Mike, because they have been for here so long," stated Saboor Hatef (03). Although often unnoticed and unappreciated, landmarks throughout school were just a quick glance away, around the corner, or up the hall. They defined what our campus was all about, and are forever engraved in our memories.

A familiar sight where you will see Ms. Veazy hanging around.

Missing anything? Search the infamous "Junk Yard" out back! Maybe you'll find something really cool?

Need the "almost" latest school info? The Marquee in front has it all.

As a freshman, no one will ever forget "The Dungeon." The locker area that all freshmans inhibited as newcomers in high school.



Leave your mark on the school canvas, otherwise known as "The Wall."

There he is... a living landmark himself, Coach Mike!

"All hail, all hail" to our Titan Alma Mater. A beautiful sight that no one will ever forget.

family look

As you walked down the halls, dozens of different faces passed you by, yet you probably have never really stopped and wondered if any of them might be related. There were so many people here that were related to one another and many of us never knew about it. Just because they might not have looked the same, doesn't mean they weren't related. Then again, I guess it would have been hard to pinpoint all the people who are related. Once you've seen all the people that were related, you would really get the whole picture of what made up Kennedy. When asked if she liked having her sisters at the same school, Jennifer Stevens (02) responded, "Well it's good considering I'm like 'Best Friends' with the both of them. So, I guess I couldn't have asked for anything better". Having a brother or sister at school with you can also have a negative effect on you. With an older sibling at school, you may not get away with things that you could have if they weren't there. " It's cool having my sister at the same school, but sometimes I wish I didn't," responded Chachi Herrera (04). At home, they may not have been the best of friends, but when they come to school they'll always be fellow Titans. "I love having them here! Why wouldn't I? Its great! It's good to know there's always someone there looking out for you, or when I need help in a class I can ask them cause they have already been there and done that. And 2 of 3 times, they've had a teacher that I have and can give me info on those teachers, like what they like and don't like. It's great!" says Jenel Glover (05) about her sisters Amy Lajoie (03)(left) and Megan Glover (02)(right). (Top picture)

Desire (03), Dorian (02), and Tyshawn Harris (02), pose for a little family picture before going back to class. Dorian says he likes having his siblings around because, "You're never alone. You'll always have someone to talk to if something comes up."

"There can be lots of girlfriends, but only one family." - The Nguyen Twins: Hiep (03) and Hao (03) "Having my brother here is awesome! You'd think we would be tired of one another by now, but we're not. The worst part is knowing that we will be separated soon enough. STAY TIGHT LITTLE BRO!!"
- Hao Nguyen

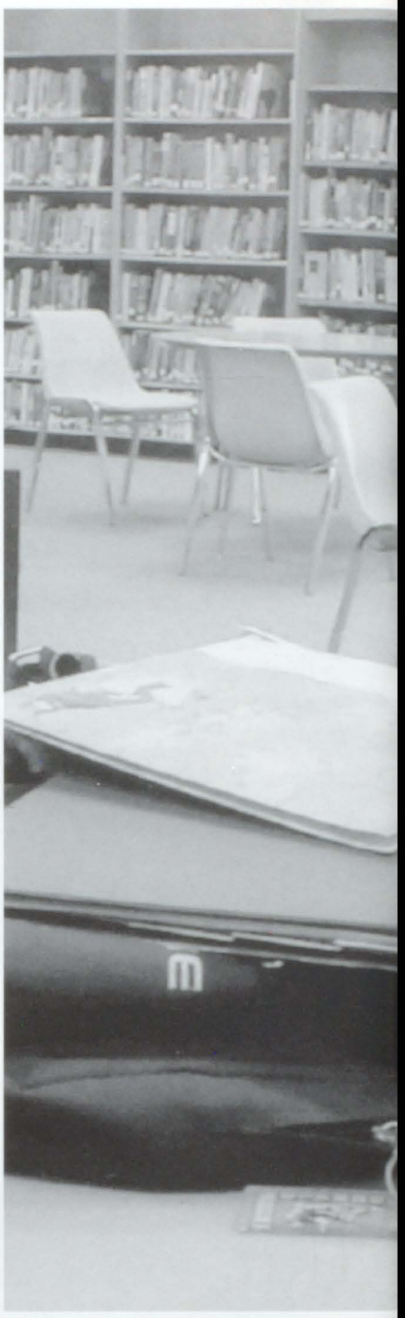
"It's good having a sister in this school, especially when she's in the same grade. So that if I don't understand how to do something, she usually does. The only bad thing about having a twin is that I often get mistaken for her." - Megan Steinert (02) "If you have the same teachers, you can share the homework. That's what I like about it." - Kristin Steinert (02)

When Shayna (03) was asked how she felt about having her brother, Hemant Khatri (02) at school with her, she replied, "I don't really know how I feel about having him here. When we're at school, we act like we're not even related."

Little sister, Christina Cuison (04) says she likes having her sister, Cara (03) here because, "I can always hit her up for money."

visions of greatness

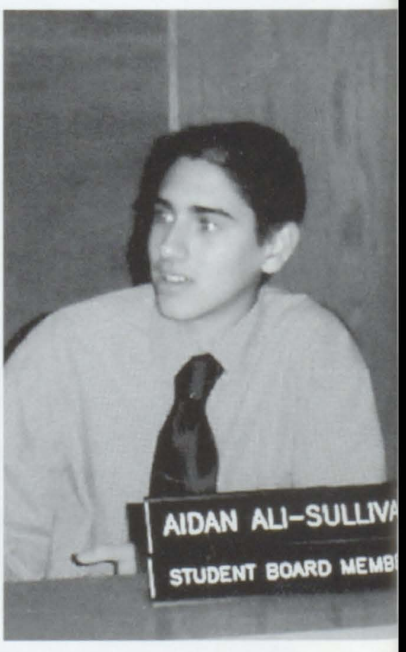
Attention fellow Titans and Alumni! The following students have shown great determination and perseverance in the name of Kennedy Pride! "When students balance A.P classes and extra curricular activities, this requires a tremendous amount of dedication and the willingness to work hard," said Vicki Baker (English/A.P Teacher). Through much hardship and difficulty, these students overcame obstacles in order to complete their duties as a student. "I try to focus on one thing at a time and prioritize my schedule. And I try to have fun even though it really isn't," said Isheen Herrera (05). Not every student was able to handle the daily stress of academic work and extra curricular activities. Even with homework, sports, clubs activities, and other extra curricular responsibilities, somehow all these students still managed to balance every single task at hand. "I try my best to balance everything out and in the end everything will be just fine," said Khiang Sabe (02). The ability to handle all these tasks was quite extravagant and "off the hook"! These students have exceeded over and beyond the call of duty and what was expected of them. They glistened with Titan spirit! Such great role models should never be forgotten. "Students that pushes themselves to the limit are students that have much potential in the future," said Dan Bega (Biology A.P Teacher). We must give proper praise and respect towards all of those students that were acknowledged and of those who weren't for their abilities to succeed in school as well as in life!



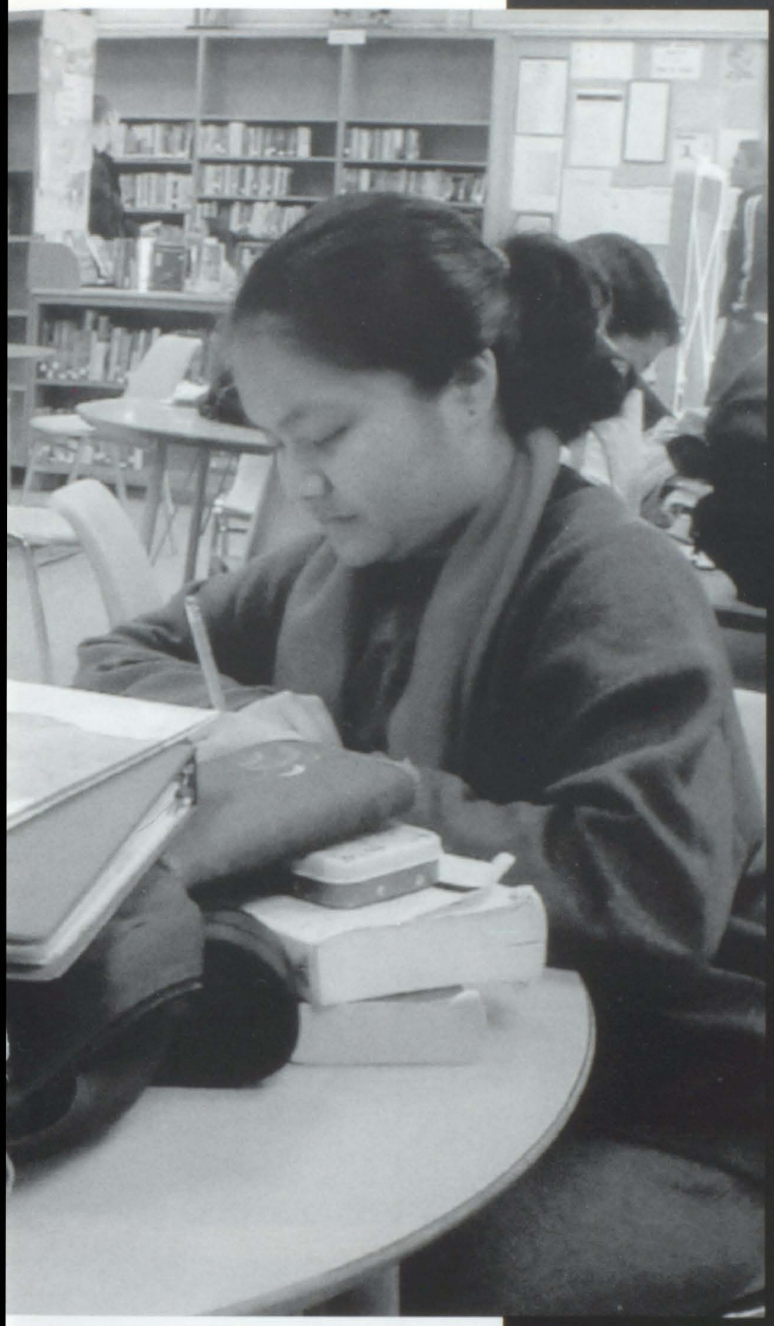
HOW DO YOU HANDLE SCHOOL STRESS?

"I take the school year one day at a time, and try not to let the insignificant stress me. I focus on what is most important to me and I always keep my goals in mind."
- Juliana Yee (02)

"I don't waste any of my time. When it's time to do work, I do work, and when it's time to play ball, I play ball. It's all about time management, and you have to plan ahead. Also you have to work hard,"
- Mike Zhou (03)



As part of the School Board, Aidan Ali-Sullivan (02) attends every Board of Education meetings on Wednesday representing the 30,000 students in the district.



While other juniors are out eating, Hazel Buenviaje (03) studies diligently in the library with a friend in order to pass their test next period.

Early every morning, students like (left to right) Richard Quiamco (04), Jay Patel (04), Tiwayne Defils (04), and Christopher Tan (04) go to school at 6:40 A.M in the morning in order to pass their Driver's Education course.

With such a busy schedule and as Freshman Class Officers, Edaline Sarmiento (05) and Sheree Rodriguez (05) manages everything with such ease and still have fun doing it!

With sweat and tears dripping down onto thier rosy cheeks, Jeremy Kwan (03) and Alice Ho (02) work late into the night in order to complete their deadlines for yearbook.

International Highway

VROOM...VROOM... Kennedy Titans entered the highway by showing off their unique cultural styles! Multicultural Week was allowed us to learn about what other cultures are like. Being able to learn about traditions from around the world, was a great opportunity. "Multicultural week was interesting because it let me find out different things that I didn't know about certain nationalities," said Melissa Perry (02). Our school was extremely diverse, we had people from all around the world, from students to teachers. "The best part about multicultural week is the fact that countries unite to make a good show," said Martin Villagomez (05). Multicultural wWek was a time-consuming event; everyone who participated in putting it together had to be highly organized, and highly motivated to complete the task. "It was hard getting everyone together, and once we got started, it was still stressful, but fun," said Belinda Yan (02), one of this year's Club Commisioners. "I enjoyed the FYC performance, it was well organized," said Ashley Clawson (03). With all of the work, Multicultural Week turned out to be a fantastic show.

Come on, let's all dance the Can-Can with the French Club!

services and clubs . . .

A must SEE event

Our high school is proud to have clubs and volunteer organizations on campus. Clubs have been a great influence and a terrific aspect in the lives of students. Dana Young(04), secretary of the Drama Club, commented," Drama has helped me be more open and express my feelings in a different way." Our school was filled with various, cultures and interests. Clubs were organized for students to express their perspectives, talents, actions, and activities. "I like being in clubs because it helped me work with other people from different cultures," declared vice president of M.E.Ch.A., Erica Leon (02).

Each club created unforgettable moments and priceless memories. "I think clubs give students the opportunity to have a positive impact on their community. Also, it's an outlet to have fun within the school setting. Some of my most memorable experiences at J.F.K. are from activities I was involved with throughout clubs", said club advisor, Ms.Santillan.

Many of the clubs organized various activities such as food sales, dance shows, meetings, field trips, fundraisers, and community services. John Salcedo (03), a member of the I.T.C. said, "I think that clubs give students an opportunity to place energy in constructive activities." Clubs had a big effect on everyone; it made people work hard, helped others socialize, were excellent for college applicants, helped people in need and brought unity. "The clubs at Kennedy helped the students interact with each other and it's a fun way to give back to the community," quoted Ann Nyugen (02). Through it all, we showed our school spirit and a great sense of unity.

Looking Over Our School

Who got up every Wednesday morning while the rest of us were sleeping in? That's right...our Associated Student Body representatives. The A.S.B. consisted of our class officers, an executive board and 13 other commissions ranging from slide show to community service.These thoughtful and devoted students attended meetings in the library once a week to discuss school issues involving our students. It was the A.S.B. who took on the amazing responsibilities of dealing with these issues while at the same time organizing other events such as Multicultural Week, Spirit Week, rallies, school dances, and games in the quad. All these fun activities added up to an incredible year. Senior class cabinet Khaing Sabe (02) felt our school year was triumphant . "A.S.B this year has gone through some tough times, but we have always pulled together to make our school successful for our student body," she replied. Good leadership abilities and high spirits kept them committed to making our school year enjoyable. Although times got stressful and difficult, they managed to give us what we wanted.

Titan Service Awards

Man! Never thought I'd get this and it's an honor to receive this award.I know that there are poeple out there that deserve this more than me, so this award goes out to all them that wasn't acknowledged or a recipients of this award. A great person once said, "service above self." Words of Wisdom: Don't complain and do nothing, stand up and actual try to make a difference and do something. Holla Front!

-Binh Dao

From "Help, can't wait" to "Together, we can save a life," being a volunteer of the American Red Cross has a special meaning in my life. After seeing people helping others recover from disaster and knowing that another homeless person has received a hot meal, one has experienced the most priceless thing in the world- the joy of giving. If every one of us could give a hand to those in need, the world would be a wonderful place.

- Alice Tsai

"It is never too late to be who you could've been." I am honored to receive this award. As the years progressed, I found myself participating in more activities for the school simply for the love of getting involved and helping other. In doing so, I met wonderful people and found my voice. All it takes is a high spirit. Encourage. Enliven. There isn't a greater joy.

-Jeff Shih

"Those who bring sunshine to the others cannot keep it from themselves." Serving Kennedy has definitely been a great privilege and joy. I am extremely thankful to have had the opportunity to be part of such an amazing school. The inspiration I've drawn from the dedication and hard work of the teachers and students of Kennedy will truly last me a lifetime.

"Two roads diverged into a road, and I... I took the one less traveled by, and that has made all the difference," - Robert Frost. The true reason for helping others does not take a second to think about, it's the natural response of a person that shows how truly great their intentions are. Remember, it's not how much you've done; it's why you do it and how you do it.

-Khaing Sabe

I want to help people at our school. Sometimes they just need someone to take the time to help. Helping them may just make their day. Most people at our school are willing to help me. That makes the school a nicer place.

-Peter Wong

"Happy were men if they but understood, there is no safety but in doing good." Your life is what you make of it, so make it count. Thanks to everyone for all the support and GO KENNEDY!

-Yu-San Huoh

"The purpose of life is a life of purpose." My accomplishments here at Kennedy & in the community have filled my life with purpose. Thanks to the staff & everyone else I met along the way that has supported me.

-Aidan Ali-Sullivan

I am honored to be among the many recipients of this prestigious award. Thanks to those who supported my endeavors in dirt, paper, and plastic.

AN Academic VIEW

It's not everyday that you can join a club and feel proud about who you are when you are a member of it. "I joined this club not only to support a friend but to be part of something new and to feel proud about it," stated Debate Club member Sim Kaur (03). Some people joined clubs so they could go on field trips, some joined so they could feel like they were doing their part for the school, and others joined because they wanted to make a difference. "I started the Debate Club because it was a chance to actually be a part of something I liked doing," declared club president, Cara Cuison (03). Debate Club was an old but new club that was revived. This club prepared the students to compete in forensic competitions dealing with speech and debate. Another intriguing club at Kennedy was CSF (California Scholarship Federation). CSF allowed students to be recognized for their great academic achievements. Olivia Santillan (CSF advisor) said, "They promote academic excellence and represent what fine students we have at J.F.K." D.E.C.A. offered civic conscience, social awareness, career technical understanding, and leadership development. Those involved competed in national competitions, raised money for the Make a Wish Foundation and had fun doing it. "Not only do we compete in national competitions but we party the night away at dances the organization provided for us, meet new people from all over the country, and go on trips to unite our Chapters," Vanessa Cravalho (02) exclaimed. Everyone enjoyed being part a club becuase it allowed them to grow independently, while being a part of an organization.

A Cultural GLIMPSE of Clubs

Clubs gave students an opportunity to expand and learn more about each other. It gained the attentionof the students' interests because each club was special. They all provided a certain perspective with the sense of unity and understanding. M.E.Ch.A has been one of the many clubs that contributed throughout the years by sharing the different Latin cultures that exisct. "M.E.Ch.A helped me to stay organized and be more responsible about my work," said M.E.Ch.A. publicity officer, Ines Perez (02). The French Club had always been doing cultural activities such as cooking French gourmet, learning the culture and speaking the language. "I think it's a good way to discover and experience the French culture," said French Club president, Paula Badulescu (03). El Club de Espanol was started this year, bringing the interests of other students to learn about the Spanish language. Black Student Union brought the fun of the African-American culture by doing their creative and extravagant dances to a whole new level. Filipino Youth Coalition helped students in exploring the island culture and taught their customs to others as well. "Every activity that we experienced, we learned more about our culture and where we came from," declared publicity officer Izelhaze Herrera (03).

These clubs have opened their hearts and souls and invited us into a whole new world of culture that will be a part of us always.

A CLOSER LOOK AT OUR HERITAGE

When you looked around the halls of J.F.K., what did you see? You noticed a wide variety of different cultures from around the world. Our clubs were formed from the stundents' knowledge of thier heritage and that knowledge was spread throughout our school; this is what made us so diverse. "I love how there is such a mixture of ethnicities within our clubs, " stated Vicki Ton (02), publicist of the Vietnamese club. The more we learned about each other, the more we enriched our minds with new cultures and tradtions. "It gave us a chance to expand our horizons, "said Nazeera Salak(02), co-president of the Islamic club. When the meetings were held, students came and spoke out about what they knew and wanted know more about any particular religion. "Every year I learned something new about the Indian culture and about other cultures at the same time. As a member of any club, you grew to learn so much, and what we learned we taught each other," said Nehal Patel (02), president of the Indian club. Kennedy has been proud to be known as one of the most multi-ethnic schools in the Fremont district.

The VIEW inside service

Why has our community been such a great place to live in!?! We'll tell you why! It has been a great place because of the students who devote their time and effort to make our world a better place to live in. They joined clubs such as American Red Cross, Kids Cheerind Kids, Amnesty International, Club Earth, Interact, and the Leo Club to make a difference in someone's life. Within these clubs the students did their best to help other people who were less fortunate than them. "I joined the Interact Club because the activities were fun and the people are nice," said Yu-Jay Huoh (04). "I joined the K.C.K Club because I thought it would be good to help people, and the kids are so fun to play with," said Jackie Shibata (02). Everyone in the K.C.K Club took trips to Presbyterian Churches and orphanages to help kids to find their inner strength. "I joined both the K.C.K and the Leo Club because it gives me a chance to give back to the community," said Tiffany Ng (02). The Leo Club had a great year fundraising for the blind centers and doing community service, which brings us to the Red Cross Club. The Red Cross Club dedicated their time to collect money and give food to the poor. "I joined the Red Cross Club to get service hours and help out the community," said Nenita Lopez (03). The Amnesty Club wrote letters to give political prisoners a second chance at life. "I joined the Amnesty Club partially because my friends were in charge of it, but also I thought it was interesting, and the fact that you could really help someone by writing a letter," said Aidan Ali-Sullivan (02). Club Earth helped us by collecting recycleable cans and bottles, and they make our environment clean by picking up trash. "I joind Club Earth because I like being able to help keep the community clean," said Juliana Yee (02). These students inspired everyone by joining the clubs and making our community a better place to live in.

SEE our Entertainment...

Although only four of the thirty clubs were for entertainment purposes, they offered a wide variety of fun-filled activities. A new addition to our school this year was the Cricket Club... no, not insect enthusiasts, the Cricket Club offered a chance for students to play a new sport. "Cricket is a sport played in India, Pakistan, and other countries. Its like baseball, but you hit the ball on the ground, instead of in the air," said Manish Shambria (02), the club President. Other than sports, clubs like the Oragami Club allowed students to express their talents off the field. "We do all kinds of crafts, from flowers to animals, but they all require patience and talent," stated Amy Lam (02), the club President. Friday Night Live, another entertainment club, had a broader focus. This club conducted numerous events, including a ski trip to Boreal, Spoken Words Night, and peer tutoring programs. "Basically Friday Night Live is a club that provides activities in a drug free environment," stated Vice President Cara Cuison (03). Students took part in many fun and exciting activities, and met new people; achieving the true purpose of clubs.

It's a precious thing when you find someone who is willing to help out others. "I have always been interested in politics and political issues and I believe that citizens need to take an active interest in their community. So, I encourage my students to work for candidates and issues on the ballot. I also encourage them to volunteer for community service such as working at the polls on Election Day," said Mrs. Putman. People gave up their weekends and their vacations to go out and help; others went directly from school or work. The amazing thing of it all, they did it for nothing. Not one of them got paid to do what most people thought was a heroic deed. Helping others brought a smile to the needy's faces and joy in the hearts of the helper. "Knowing that I made a difference in someone else's life is what makes me continue to help others," commented Michael Ponce (02), a helper at a local retirement home. Most help begins with giving to the homeless, helping elders in retirement homes, and having fun with underprivileged children. Some students here at school are members of Interact, Club Earth, Kids Cheering Kids, and Leo Club. These clubs participated in community activities including can food drives and going to local areas to interact with less privileged kids. However, many students and staff gave up their own time to lend a hand. "For twelve years now, my wife and I have gone down to Sentential Hall in Hayward and worked with the Salvation Army and helped fedthe homeless. The joy we get out of it is better than the food they are eating," said Coach Mike. It's obvious to see that many people enjoy going out and making a difference in another persons' life. The greatest gift of all was the gratitude and the feeling that you have helped changed someone's life.

Seeing is Believing

From essays to algebra problems, history tests to Spanish projects - these tedious tasks may appear irrelevant to many students, yet eventually become perceivable to the naked eye - Seeing IS Believing. Stacey Choy (05) said, "Now that I am a freshman, homework has become a lot harder and nerve-racking at times." Every year was a little different from the preceding year. "This year there is not as much time to converse with friends in class because we have to pay attention more otherwise we'd get behind," responded Cathy McDonald (03). You grow older and wiser and learn to manage your schoolwork with your extra-curricular activities. "Since freshman year, I've become more involved in my schoolwork. I've also set my goals higher," said Erica Nieto (02). Being a technology magnet school we've made many advances in classes such as web-design, computer art, video productions and many more technology-oriented classes. "We are more hi-tech because we have more computer classes and we use computer skills in our everyday life," replied Sabrina Rosh (03).This year was quite different from any other previous years at Kennedy; a new block schedule has been implemented. "I think block schedule has its pros and cons; it's a good idea when it comes to having only four classes but the con is that the classes are so long," commented Genna Panoringan (03). Our school has many dedicated teachers who come to school everyday, eager to enrich young minds with profound knowledge. "I believe I was destined to become a teacher. I was born to teach!" exclaimed Mr. Yee. Opening your eyes to what lies under the covers could motivate you to reach higher and achieve your dreams. Seeing Is Believing; you could never realize your true potential without putting your mind to it...

Top 10

Hardworking, bright, and talented are only a few of the words that described the group of intelligent students that have made it to the Top Ten of 2002. What does Ms. Waller have to say about these students? "I enjoy 'Top Ten' students only if they come without the stereotypical honors attitude. What is great about them is that I can get them to think and create in avenues they never thought possible. The best 'Top Ten' students are not only intelligent and diligent, but creative and deferential as well." They survived the harsh demands of Advanced Placement and honors courses, spending many stressful days and sleepless nights working on numerous reports and projects and on studying for difficult tests. Along with the large amount of homework, many of these students also had to balance their academic lives with extracurricular activities and their social lives filled with sports, clubs, community service, family, and friends. These students gave up many things in order to gain academic excellence, but all their hard work has paid off for these successful 10 students because they gain the rewarding title of theTop Ten in the class of 2002!

Amit Aggarwal : If there is one thing about Amit, he's tenacious! He would worry the spots off of a leopard.

- Mr. Scalia

Timothy Chen: Dear Tim: I still remember you rolling up your shirt sleeves and telling the A.P. class all about Hamilton's banking policies. You must have talked for ten minutes. You must have used seventeen S.A.T. words. Most students had no clue of what you were talking about. I have this image of you sitting in a college class rolling up you sleeves; hopefully then others in your class will have a clue of what you are talking about. GOOD LUCK TIM! Wear short sleeves.

- Mr. Stark

Pui Lai : If only all students would ascend from their puisne beginnings to the puissance you have mastered. Pui, you are simply, muy puisimo.

- Mr. Abrams

Yu-San Huoh : From atoms to ascii to applets, yu let nothing stop yu from achieving at the highest levels. At either YuCLA or YuCB, yu will rise to the top from your usance of yu-nique talents. As Caesar would have said "Yu-san, yu-came, yu-conquered"

- Mr. Abrams

Juliana Yee : The one who believes that everything is possible and is willing to do the hard work required to make it come true. Your effort deserves a top spot. Carpe diem! Kennedy will not be as GREEN without you.

- Mr. Peralta

of 2002

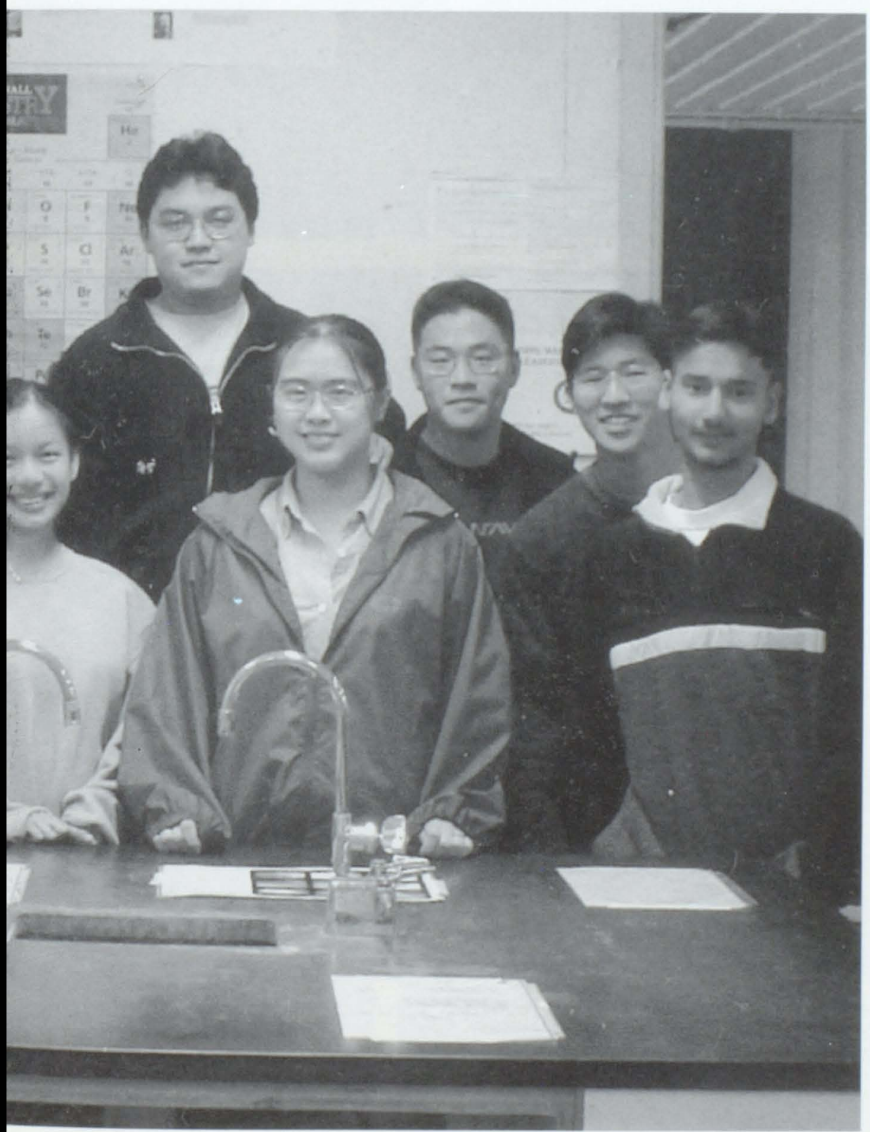
Didi Zhai : In her four years in the Kennedy High School Music Department, Didi has alwaysa striven toward excellence. She is very conscientious about preforming at her best. Didi is also willing to tak on new challenges. She served as the accompanist for the concert choir this Fall and did an excellent job. Even for an experienced pianist, accompanying is a skill that takes time to develop. She has a strong work ethic, and I am sure that she will have great success at whatever she chooses to pursue.

- Mr. Sterling



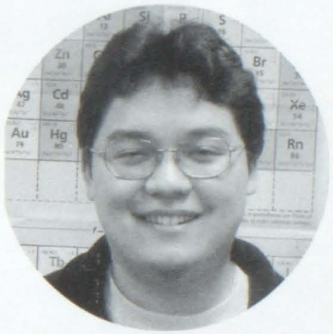
Top: Pui Lai, Juliana Wilson, William Payton Bottom: Juliana Yee, Yu-San Huoh, Li-Hua Liu, Didi Zhai, Timothy Chen, Hwan Lee, Amit Aggarwal

William Payton : Socially responsible, technically literate, academically proficient and a skilled communicator, William is the embodiment of the ESLRs. His pony tail and Ono beard, grown long before Ono won the gold, add savoir faire, and his manners and self disipine are stellar. To all this add a clear thinking mind and an enchanting nature. William....You are fully accredited!

- Ms. Putman

Li-Hua Liu : Li-Hua Liu (aka Peggy) is a start. She approaches her assignments with a vigor and enthusiam, always doing more than is expected. With her natural ability and creative mind, she adds greatly to a class. Most importantly, her glowing personality and postive outlook on life make her a pleasure to know.

- Mr. Wasserman



Hwan Lee : The one who dares to take a challenge is the one who will succeed. The math dreamer! You've got what it takes to be a rocket scientist. Need a challenging calculus problem for the summer?

- Mr. Peralta

Juliana Wilson: It comes as no surprise that Juliana (Wilson) is being honored as one of Kennedy's top ten (students)! It has been a real joy to share knowledge with someone so bright and mature, eager to broaden her horizons, and partake in the best the world has to offer. Congratulations to a wonderful young woman.

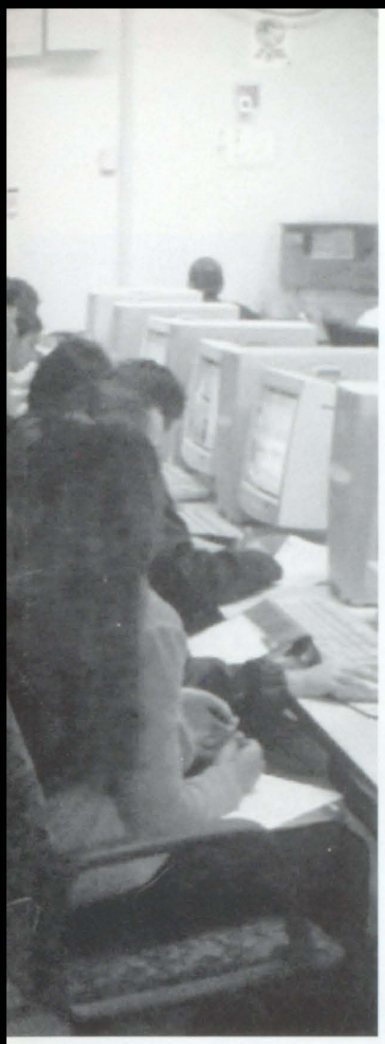
With so many wires and cables running everywhere, sometimes its hard to keep track of where everything goes.



A whole NEW future...

Multimedia/Technology Magnet High School; try saying that five times fast. If you may not have known it, this has been our name ever since 1999. "Kennedy has been integrating technology and multimedia presentations into it's program for many years. As the staff began to explore it's vision of what our school would look like in the new millennium, we realized that we had already taken the first steps towards creating this new paradigm," stated Mr. Tom Bryan (multimedia production teacher). So far we have developed five full computer labs (which consist of three PC labs, one half Apple Imac and PC lab, and one completely filled room of cool Apple Imac computers), upgraded our front office to Pentiums, created a whole multimedia department, and put all accessible computers online and on network. Along with this, our library had also been upgraded with a few Imacs and two rows of new Pentium 3 computers. Is this a giant leap towards preparing us for the new age? Well according to Mr. Bob Riley, "not really. Although we have begun, it is only as though we are an infant beginning to crawl. Later on as we further develop, we should be on the cutting edge of technology. We should be doing things that other schools are not able to, and everything should be electronic: From daily attendance, to all communication such as the bulletin. Also we must maintain a close partnership and network with R.O.P, local colleges, and businesses." With this advancement , we have also changed the class scheduling into a four by four block schedule. This change has allowed students to have more opportunities to take the classes they want, and more time for teachers to teach each day. Together these changes will allow us to continue to integrate into a Multimedia/Technology Magnet High School of a new era.

These empty I-macs await for student to further their knowledge and minds to the next level.

a Peek @How it was Made

"Yelling, crying, and no one is trying," stated Binh Dao (02). Those were just some of the problems that surrounded the yearbook staff everyday. With this class being new to everyone, none of us really knew what to expect. "Yearbook was the one class I actually attended and performed my tasks. It was a really stimulating class that I would recommend taking," described Andrew Camaisa (02). Yearbook was not all fun and games as was told to the class before the crazy ride began. "Most people don't know how much work, time, sweat, and tears it took to put together a good book. It took determination and hard workers to have an 'off the hook' book at the end of the year!" exclaimed Jennifer Puebla (02). Without cooperation and teamwork, the yearbook staff would not have survived the pressure, the drama, and all of the obstacles that came their way. "Even though we hated being under the pressure of the deadlines, it was one of those experiences that will help us become a better person in the end," said Mario Quezada (02). While problems created tensions, most of the staff ignored it and put in much effort to get along with one another. "We put our differences aside and created a resolution on how to handle the job," replied Melissa Velarde (03). Although there were a lot of challenges, everyone pulled together to do their part. SheilaPonce (03) revealed, "There were certain people you would rather not work with, things you wouldn't like to change, and words you would like to use, but you had to make changes that made your editors happy or you wouldn't make the deadline!" While deadlines were due, some of the staff helped relieve the tension by making everyone feel a little more cheerful. "Sometimes I would let loose and have fun. I'm glad we had an adviser who is ok to joke with," expressed Chris Gonzalez (03). To some yearbook may be just a class, but it was treated as a business and the staff contributed to the golden prize; the completion of a remarkable yearbook.

Closer GLANCE @ the press

"Extra! Extra! Read all about it..." Mr. Ludwig's Journalism class was responsible for producing interesting and accurate news to the student body. "Serving on the student newspaper gives students a voice they wouldn't otherwise have," said Mr. Ludwig.

To put out an edition JFK Today*, is not as easy as you would think. These students put in many extra hours, which consisted of interviewing students and teachers, and going to sporting events. Those of you that believed producing a newspaper was an easy job, listen to what Sarah Romo (03) had to say, "I was the copy editor of the newspaper, and let me tell you that correcting peoples stories was very tedious, and time consuming."

Journalism required a certain level of creativeness and at the same time, a solid grasp of things that are factual. Also, to know that you would have to voice your opinions and give your advice to the whole school could be a terrible weight on your shoulders, seeing that people do not always see things the same way you do. "Some students criticized what I wrote about, but it didn't bother me. I feel being in journalism gave me the right to voice my opinion publicly," said Lauren Jack (03).

Congrats to the Journalism class. All the effort and long hours have paid off; every edition of the JFK Today* that hit the news stands was a hot commodity.

"Lights, camera, action!" Mr. Bryan's third period, Television Journalism class was responsible for our very own television program called "Kennedy Connections." "This was a great opportunity for students to create a television, magazine-style program that aired on cable television for the whole city to see," said Mr. Bryan.

"Kennedy Connections" appeared three times a week, Fridays at 5 p.m and Saturdays and Sundays at 6 p.m on cable channel 26 (as if you didn't know). The program covered all recent events in our school, from student's interests and views, to sports coverage. "I really enjoyed interviewing people, and getting to know more people at school. Here's a piece of advice, don't video tape yourself skate boarding on top of the portables," said Daniel Vanluchem (03).

There were five hosts for the T.V Journalism class. Their jobs were to introduce the show and take people from segment to segment. A lot of work took place behind the camera. There was a sound crew, camera crew, and of course the on screen talents. All of this eventually led to the editing of the footage by the students. "After all the rigorous hard work that we go through to finish a segment we have to jump back and think of new ideas for next week's show, our endeavors to make a perfect show is never ending, word be key like whoa," said Allen Walker (03)."

WEB Surfing Specialists

Instead of surfing the web, it's time to create the web. Take a look at what you can learn from taking this class and how students feel it helps them." In this class we create web pages and files for use on the Internet. I feel that the class is a great success and I like it very much even though it can be fustrating at times and, it's a lot of work," said Ms. Cecil-Hunter (Web Design teacher). Are you still thirsty for more? Ashley Alimadadian (03) says, "It's an O.K. class and it gives you more experience so you can apply for better jobs. " So far, this year was a great success according to the students that have taken the class. Hazel Buenviaje (03), thought that web design gives you knowledge to apply to your future. "You'll definitely benefit from it." Web Design allowed us to reach a new level of technological knowledge and acquire skils which will help us in our future careers.

Gazing AT OUR STARS

Do you want to become a movie director or become one of those people that film a T.V. show like "Friends" or the "Simpson's"? Well, here is your chance, to look behind the scenes and catch the students in the act of producing films. "This class is for beginners who have an intrest in T.V. video. In here we learned how to use softwear and video equiptment,and we make things such as commercials, music videos, and drama. I love teaching the class and the students are taking it very well with the block schedule," said Mr. Bryan. The time limit is great for this class because it gives the students time to bring out the equpment and not have to bring it right back in, this gives them a chance to produce more films.

"I liked video production because it gave me a sense of direction for what I want to do when I get older," said Jessica Busi (03). These students put their best thoughts into developing something that will inspire others to take the class. "This is a very fun class and I enjoy it a lot. Taking this class has inspired me and prepared me for better job opportunities," said Rebecca Ross (04). This is not only a fun class but it can help you improve and brighten your future.

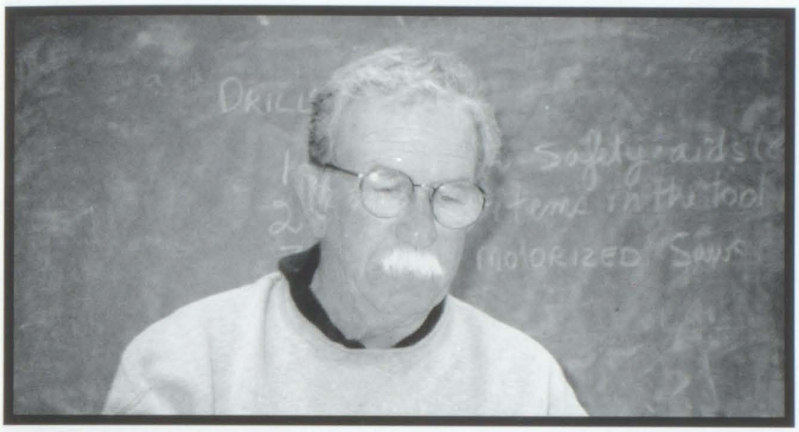
"Thats obviously wrong," said Mr. Bega as he points out the error in a student's programming.

Stacy Quintana (02) works very hard and wastes no time on her computer art projects.

...our knowledge

"Cut that precisely," said John Webb as he explains the fundamental of Woodshop to the new kids of the class.



From art to management, its the classes of applied arts. Applied arts consist of foods, computer art, computer programing, management, and software for students who wanted to put their academics to use. "Computer art integrates technology into the art curriculum," said Mr. Engle. "We use math to create a piece of art in the computer," said Chris Portugal (02). Mr. Burnight said, "We teach Microsoft Office for students to use in the business world." After math, science, and English students begin to apply their skills into other subjects. "First, they gain a working knowledge of computers, then they gain skills in basic software programs in a basic business environment," said Mr. Lee. Students applied the knowledge they acquired from their core subjects to specific subjects which prepare us for future careers.

"I'm hecka sleepy man," said Chun Fan(02) as he falls asleep in Woodshop.

Looking INTO Language Arts

"We need English classes for better communication and to express ourselves better in every aspect," quoted Marlene Cendejas (02). English has always been a subject that helped us improve our communication skills with others. It helped us to become more educated people, not just by learning to read and write well, but also learning how to interpret situations of life and how to handle them. Through literature, we learned about human nature. The books have situations that are similar to real life, which helped us to cope with them better as they came along. "It was the best of times and it was the worst of times," Mrs. Waller (teacher) quoted Charles Dickens when she realized how difficult teaching English was this year because of the block scheduling. Many English teachers were anguished over the fact that they weren't able to teach as much material for reading and writing because of the short amount of time given to them. The reverse side of that coin was that teachers were able to have better discussions with their classes because of the longer periods. Language Arts was necessary and often fun thanks to the teachers who did their best to infect us with their enthusiasm.

U.S. History, World History, American Government, Economics, Sociology, Geography, Psychology . . . . nobody could escape from these classes and get away with it. Thankfully, our teachers made these classes seem more . . . well . . . interesting. Sylvia Chavez (02) proudly said, "I really like my American History class because my teacher, Ms. Kinkler, explains the lectures clearly and gives us good details. It made me come to class everyday." With a little enthusiasm, charm, and charisma, history seemed to come alive in a good way. "As I teach social science at this school, I'm still learning new things every year. Just because historical people are dead doesn't mean they're not interesting," declared Mr. Stark (teacher). It's also up to us to discover anything that will interest us in this subject. Anthony Headrick (04) commented, "It's pretty tight. Mr. Yale is cool, and teaches us a lot." Not only did social science teach us about the past, but about humanity and the relationships between cultures and ideals.

Left:"Only one more week until the finals and these guys still can't get the answers right!" Mr. Stark is so tired from the entire week he could just fall dead on the floor.

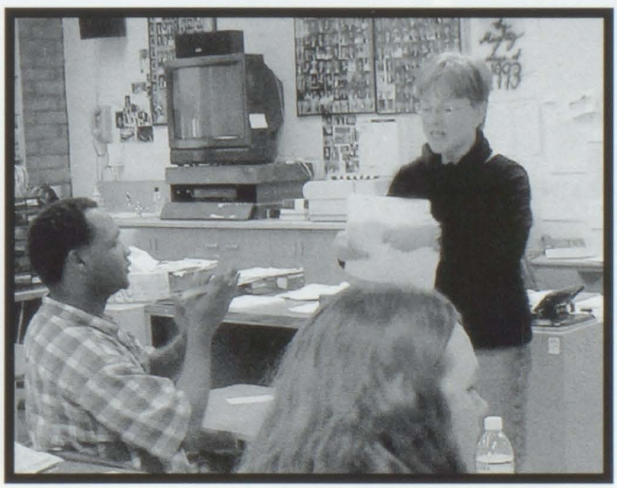
-Medina Asalati (02)



"But I wanted to pass out those tests, Mrs. Puttnam!" yells James Howard (02). Yeah, so he could see his grades! Maybe next time.

Verify the Numbers

Of course, we all know that Math is more than just numbers and equations. Math taught us the skills we needed to do well and succeed in our future careers and lives. Rukhsana Serang (02) comented, "I really enjoy math because it has taught methe logic and skills I need now, and will need in the future." Even for those who did not go off to college, math taught us how to perform in day to day mathematical situations, like balancing our checkbooks, counting correct change, and paying bills. "Unfortunately, Math isn't encouraged as much as it should be, but students really need to realize how important it is in everyday situations," said Mr. Peralta (Math teacher). Whether straight numbers, algebraic equations, or geometric theorums, Math is an integral part of our education. Math equals power.

Enter the Laboratory

From chemical reactions and equations, to dissections and diagrams, students did it all in science classes. Besides the two required years of Earth Science and Biology, most students chose to expand their scientific knowledge into Chemistry, Physics, and even Anatomy. "I took Chemistry mainly to enhance my college requirements, but also to have Mr. Patton as a teacher," said Cara Cuison (03). With the new block schedule, some students were adventurous and were able to take two consecutive science classes. "Taking Chemistry and Physics in the same year was hard; especially being the only junior in a senior class, But I am glad I did it because I'll be ahead next year," stated Genna Panoringan (03). The Science department was also the only department to have alumni as teachers. Mr. Pfiester, Mr. Stoopin, and Mr. Bega all attented JFK and chose to return to teach. "I was looking for a job, and one of my former, Kennedy teachers asked me to come here; that's all it took," stated Mr. Bega. With new class choices and the enthusiasm of the teachers, the Science department had a great year.

Watch your Languages

Hola, ¿como estas? Tres bien, Merci. If you walked past the foreign language classes, you might hear conversations like these. Although only Spanish and French were offered, students still found the two languages educational and exciting. "French is pretty cool because Madame Deschweinitz makes class interesting," stated Jennifer Chang (03), Students learned the basics of the language; skills to carry on a conversation, and skills to write the language. " We do speech activities, act out conversations, and watch videos, all so the students become more fluent in the Spanish language," stated Mr. Palmieri. Beyond the mechanics of the language, students also learned about the culture of the countries that spoke those languages. In French classes, students cooked French food, and in Spanish classes, they took part in Day of the Dead celebrations. " Besides the language, we learn about the culture, by doing crafts like sugar skulls for the Day of the Dead celebration, and we do paper maché crafts," stated Ms. Rodriguez. Although some students took foreign language classes for college admission credit, many students took it in order to speak a language fluently so they could begin to master a second language.

Looking FIT...

Simply the acronym, P.E., could produce so many conflicting opinions. Two years of physical education classes were required to be taken by students, usually in their freshman and sophomore years. While some of these students looked forward to their P.E. class, others dreaded it. For the most part, students saw it as a chance to let go of some of the academic stress. Joyce Lee (04) says, "P.E. is a way for you to relax and hang out with your friends. You don't have to worry about work." During these classes, students learned a variety of sports such as hockey, football, bowling, tennis, and swimming. The teachers were very enthusiastic to teach their students about staying fit. P.E. teacher, Mr. Bush, says, "I like teaching P.E., especially when I can help them improve on skills and learn the importance of fitness. I love playing sports." The P.E. teachers enjoyed teaching sports as they love coaching.

...of Art

Fine arts gave students a way to express their creativity in new and exciting venues. Band and Choir performed their best in represent the talent in our school. "The only class where yelling and grace becomes harmonious," said Blanche Santos (02). Mr. Sterling teaches band, beginning choir, and chamber chorale. Choir was not just singing, it gave students a chance to learn something new about music. To get into chamber chorale, not only did you need to have a good spirit in wanting to learn about music, but you also had to be able to match pitches with the piano. Mrs. Stricklin and her two drama classes mustered up plays so students could enjoy the fine art of acting. "Drama helped students express themselves more creatively and allowed them to seek their artistic talents," said Mrs. Stricklin. Drama boosted a lot of students' self esteem. "I may be little but I pack a mean punch when it comes to acting like a kid," said Jackelynn Dao (03). In photo, the camera catches the finer side of light. "I guess I have a nick for finding the perfect shot. The hardest part is to develop the film," said Christina Cuison (04) as she positioned her camera to get a snapshot of a are bird. From scribbles to brushstrokes, these items was what made up art today's scoiety. "We have to measure lines, and draw accurately if we want it to come out looking right," said Jillian Aryan (02). Fine arts helped students take a break from the stereotypical classroom to explore hidden, as well as known, talents that students never knew they had.

Resource...what does that mean to you? For some it lacked any meaning, yet for others it was a place for them to get help with their schoolwork and with their class curriculum. "Resource is for those students who have learning disabilities but are in the regular classes. It is a tutorial program where they learn to succeed," explained Mrs. V. These students took all regular classes, but simply had different learning challenges from others. In fact, you would have been surprised to know who some of the students were that took resource. Resource teachers taught their students strategies to help them learn.

Another class that was offered was the special day classes. Students in these classes did not learn the regular curriculum. Rather, they took academic courses that were designed to conform to their needs. Mr. Kanzaki stated "There are four "Special Day Class" teachers that are teaching the academic areas of English, Math, Social Studies, and Science." Thanks to educators who believed in overcoming challenges, every student has a chance to succeed.

Look WHATS UNDER our MASK

What's behind YOUR mask? This unknown peer advocate shows us that if we mask ourselves we will not know who we really are.

Have you ever wished you had someone to talk to, someone that understood what you were going through? "Our goal is to try to help as many students as possible, no matter what the issue is. We also try to tell everyone that there are people who care. I'm sure of it. Just look for anyone with a peer advocate badge. Remember no one is normal!" reminded Christian Torres (03). There were many people available to help you through those hard times. These people were students called peer advocates from the Peer Resource class. Peer advocates could be identified by the orange or green tags worn around their necks.

The peer advocates put on a play to bring out the awareness that there was no such thing as being "normal." The title of the play was, "The Trouble with Normal: What's Behind Your Mask?" This was written and performed by the students, and written and directed by Ms. Roberts, the Peer Resource teacher. "What's Behind Your Mask, was a great way to communicate with kids our age to show them that there is no such thing as 'normal,'" explained Kristin Steinert (02).

Look ATus RULE!

The classified staff was an important part of our lives at school. These people ensured that the students performed their duties in class and on campus. "I met with every senior M through Z before October so that they're on task and that they graduated in June," said Mrs. McGinnis. She invited all of the seniors to learn more about college and answered questions that some had about their future. She also informed us about the scholarships that were available and about College Night. During class time some students had the tendency to leave, but it was hard when Mrs. Veazey was waiting for you in front of the student parking lot with a referral ready in hand. We also had our attendance clerks, Mrs. Montez, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Martinez, and Mrs. Gonzales checking up on us as well. These ladies were the ones that kept track of all our absences and tardies. If you didn't have an excuse for them, you might have ended up in the Responsibility Center. From organizing papers, to printing the newsletter, to keeping track of finances and the library, all of the staff at our school was always looking out for us and made our school a happier and nicer invironment for education.

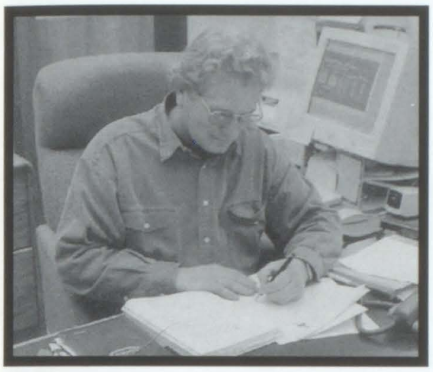
Watch us REGULATE

Sigh! The worst part about being an administrator: Having to do all the paper work.



Taking action! Taking control! Making it happen! The administrators kept the school running like a well-oiled machine. They were the people that were watching over us from the start. Without our administrators, our school would fall apart; everything would be disorganized, and nothing would ever get done. After teaching here for several years, Mrs. Paratore returned this year to become our new principal. "This has been a wonderful, exciting year. Everyday presents new challenges and opportunities. We have a great administrative support teamhere, as well as dedicated staff who make coming to work a joy for me. Few people are priviledged, as I am, to have a job they love as much as I love mine," Mrs. Peratore commented. Besides trying to get the block schedule off the ground, and making sure we lived up to our title as the new technology magnet school, she had to deal with the normal problems principals were faced with, on a daily basis. "Kids tend to get in trouble for being lazy and not doing their work," said Perwez Said (02). Mrs. Sanchez, Mrs. Chin, and Mr.Townsend also helped our principal in keeping things under control. From traffic control to scheduled counseling to discipline, they never gave up and kept on moving forward. The hard work they have put into our school can only be repaid by seeing us become succesful adults.

Lending a HELPING hand

"Do you need any help with that?" "How do you do problem number seven?" "I'm having trouble with last night's homework assignment." These questions and comments might have been something commonly heard in the classrooms where the paraprofessionals helped. Though they might have gone around from one place to another unnoticed, they were equally as important as the rest of the staff. "We help the students with what they need in class. I enjoy it because it makes me happy to know that I am doing something good for someone else," paraprofessional Dora Huang stated. Becoming aparaprofessional took time and patience. Not everybody could succeed in this profession, but it proved to be a rewarding experience; the ability to change the life of another. The position was mentally taxing, and at times the aides had certain obstacles to overcome. "The aide in my class was cool because she's a nice lady and she helps me with my work when I need it," Alex Marks (03) said. Being able to be of assistance to others obviously was a big part of a paraproffessional's daily life.

WORD of ADVICE

Counselors: Teri Sherer, Barbara Lanam, Juliette Rice, Jim Mehner

What do you want to do after high school? Get a job? Perhaps go to college to continue your education? These were important possibilities that could change your life forever. Many students went to the counselors for advise on their future goals and decisions. Without them, life would have been more difficult and wrong choices made due to the lack of direction. Thoughout the day, students could be seen sitting in the chairs of the office waiting patiently for their turn to talk to one of the five conselors on staff. "Ms. Lanam was very helpful and seemed like she actually cared. She helped me get back on track after I was gone for al ong time," Crystal Taylor (04) said. Not only did the counselors help with the post high school plans, but they even helped students pass their classes whether it was during the school year or in the summertime, making sure they passed from one grade level to the next. "What I enjoy the most about my job is seeing different students every day and being able to guide them onto the right path," pointed out counselor Barbara Lanam. With the positive attitudes these counselors had, it is sure that pupils in the years to come, will have an easier time dealing with schedules or even personal problems.

GOOD Lookin' Out

The custodians of Kennedy High were a great help to our school. Everyone thinks of them as janitors that just pick up after our school, but they do much more then that. "I like my job because of it's variety, I do something different everyday. I do a litttle bit of everything, from barcoding books to unpacking boxes to beautifiying the school," said Dan Dutra (supply clerk). They have big responsibilites and make the students and teachers' lives easier everyday. Over the year they became our friends who we could talk to and laugh with. Mike Small(02) smiled and said," They do little things that make me laugh , they try to act like teenagers but we all know how old they really are." It wasn't easy maintaining the school with 1400 teenagers, but thank goodness they did.

The Kennedy lunch ladies had one of the most stressful jobs ever. They spent all morning cooking the delicious food we ate and spent all afternoon watching the student's fast hands, making sure no one gets a free lunch. Lorraine Vera stated," I like helping the kids and making them happy. I get here at six in the morning, but I get to leave early, so it's good." Their positive attitude and of course, the food they served us, gaves us the energy to make it through the day. "I love the hours, but mostly I like my co-workers. We have tons of fun together and keep each other laughing all day," stated Monica Lamanna. They cooked, they cleaned, they were pretty much the mothers of this happy J.F.K. family.

Eye of the Titan

Touchdown! The crowd goes wild. A home run! Fans are cheering. An ace served up by a fellow Titan, a goal scored; these were the sights and sounds of Titan sporting events. "The games got me rooting for Kennedy," said Jillian Ayran (02). All of the teams vigorous hours of practice paid off during their competitions, where our Titans displayed their skills and athletic prowess. "The practices were tough and sometimes it didn't seem worth it, but after playing in a game we all realized how much we love the game," said Antoinette Agbuis (02). Our athletes are proud of their accomplishments. "Because in the end you know all your hard work paid off," replied Samantha Kiggins (05). Sports allowed new friends to be made and brought old friends closer. "I've met a lot of new guys in badminton that I would have never talked to during school, and found a lot in common with them," said Kevin Lee (03). When Coach Mike was asked how the year went and how the participation was, he responded with "Everything functioned very well and there was a large participation of boys and girls." Participation in sports was another way to get out of the house or an excuse not to go home for some period of time. "Soccer was a relief from school, even though they worked us very hard. It helped me stay in shape and it relieved stress from the hard day of school," said Osvaldo Torres (02). Sports gave students the opportunity to use their energy to display their school spirit. Now if you asked yourself, did you do anything or were you a part of something? These following athletes would agree that they were a part of something great. A part of Titan Pride!

See the FIELD light up

Some said that football was nothing more than "brutes" trying to cause intensive injuries to one another. "Actually football could be America's favorite pastime," said Skyler Vickroy (03). It took great physical and mental capability; practicing for endless hours is not uncommon. "When you step out on to the field, it makes all the hard work worthwhile," said Jerry Torres (02). Football has proven itself over the years to be most successful when the players are comfortable with each other. "Most of the seniors on the team have been playing football together for the last three years," commented Isaac Corneil (02). This did not leave them narrow-minded to the idea of having several sophomores on the team. Kevin Linnel (04) said, "At practices I looked up to the guys, but on the field I felt they were looking to me, depending on me to do my job." Every year the Titans have lost valuable players, and this year was no exception. "The varsity team will be saying goodbye to several key players as they graduate this year," said Coach John Webb. Not to worry though, new talent is ready and waiting to join the ranks of future teams. "The remaining players have been trained well, they also have been improving on their skill and communication on the field," said Curtis Megofna (02). Football comes down to one thing; fighting for that every yard so desperately needed to win the game. The scars of victory will never be forgotten.

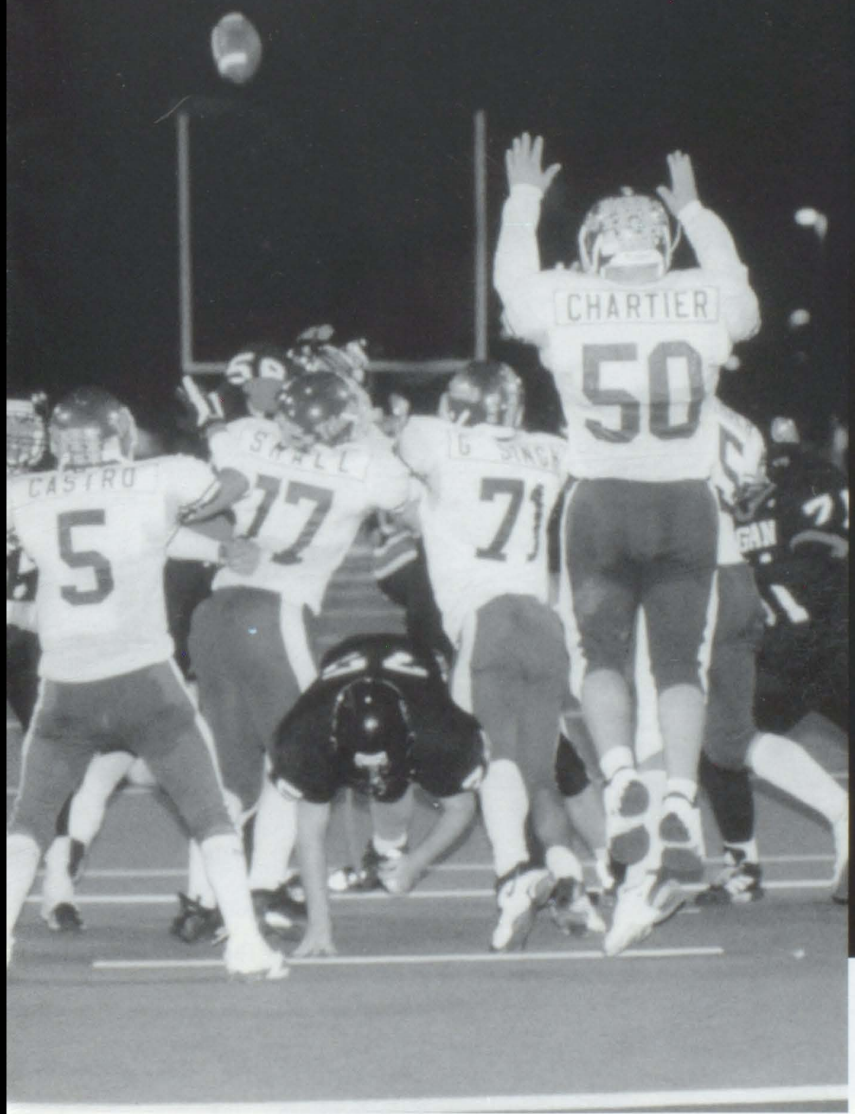
"I did my best as team captain. Next year's captain, good luck, remember what was taught and lead by example," said Chris Mitchell (02).

"As a team, I think we need more people to show up to practices and more commmunicaion on the field. By doing this, I think the team will improve," said Evyn Roman (04).

Skyler Vickroy (03) really lit up the field as he took on two of Logan's offensive players head on with help from his fellow players.



As the Titans rushes in to stop the Logan Colts from making the field goal, senior Mark Chartier (02) leapt into the air to block the extra point.

Junior Varsity's M.V.P. Joe Lara (04) go in for a mighty tackle.

The players, the field, and the ball were the elements that made up football. However, the most important element was pride. "Every game, our team played their hardest. We never gave up, even though we had a small team. Each time we stepped out on the field, we showed our titan spirit," commented Avery Bustamante (04). With raw talent on the team, the Frosh played stunningly. Santos Mercado (05) beamed, "Even though the other teams had a lot more players, we kept our confidence!" After hours of practice everyday, they showed that they were ready with their first win against Irvington. " The practices were tough, but all the bruises and cuts were worth the pain," exclaimed Lucas Kain (05). While Frosh finished a successful season, they still need a couple more years to gain experience. The J.V. season jumped to the lead with an early win, but got rocky towards the end. "I expected the season would be better than it was, otherwise it was fun!" Kevin Ricketts (04) pointed out. Don't think the coaches weren't as dedicated as the players. "No matter if we won or lost, the coaches were always there to inspire us to keep playing and to give 110%," expressed Miguel DeAvila (05). The coaches were there to make sure the players left with skills to play in up coming years. Coach Mike replied, "J.V. & Frosh teams both fulfilled all expectations and I'm looking forward for them to join Varsity."

A Glance at our Spirit

"Keep, keep, keep, it up, keep that Titan spirit up," shouts the Titan cheer squad and keeping the spirit up is what they did best. "Even though we're a small squad we showed our spirit and Titan pride," said Brandie O'Neill (04). After some debates of actually having a squad, the girls pulled together and decided what they wanted. "I joined the squd because it was something I've wanted to for a while and it was new experience," replied Ofelia Munoz (02). With such a small squad, these cheerleaders had to show that it didn't affect anything. "Even though our squad was really small this year, we still showed our Titan pride. Next year, we'll be back and better than ever!" exclaimed Katie Moody (03). While always having a smile on their face, you would wonder how they would have been able to do anything. "The guys played hard and pushed to the extreme. When they are down, we try our best to keep them up," said Monique St. Amant (05). Besides their parents, our teams always had a bunch of support from classmates, which included our cheer squad. Of course they wouldn't have been able to come that far if it wasn't for the help from Mr. Andrade and Ms. Wong. They volunteereed to advise the squad, when their coach had to quit. With everyone's help, the cheerleaders got on the right track.

Love-FORty Game

"1-2-3-Titan Victory!" shouted the girls' tennis team before each match, uniting them as a team and pumping them up for their game. These Titan tennis girls fought for the school's name and play as a team. "It's not whether we win or lose, but it's how well we compete," said Belinda Yan (02). Off the courts, each girl led her own life, but on the courts, it was a whole different world. "I love the sport because the minute I set foot on the court, everything else fades away and everything becomes all about the game," said Jackie Shibata (02).

Practicing during the summer, weeks before school started, and everyday after school, the team went into the season with great expectations of a good year. "I had high hopes for the season because the majority of girls were returning players," said Victoria Wang (04). However, all work and no play made a dull girls' tennis team. That's why the team holds a traditional "Girls' NIght Out" at a local pizzeria about half way through the season. "The pizza party was a way for the team to get together after tennis to hang out and have fun," said Phuong Hoang (04).

The varsity team, which was mainly dominated by seniors, was left with many high hopes to be filled by the potential talents of this year's newcomers for the following seasons to come. In his fourth year of coaching, Mr. Stark worked hard to teach the girls' the physical and mental aspects of the game so that they could play their very best in their matches. "We worked hard, we had fun, we basked in the sun," said Mr. Stark.

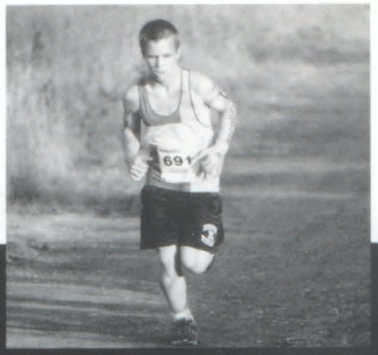
Cross Country



"Catch me if you can" Said Daniel Wold (03) as he finished his final lap.

ALL THE WAY TITAN PRIDE! Everyone cheered as the ran through the finish line to a great season. The cross-country team had a great season considering the amount of people they had. "Their effort was outstanding, and their self-esteem was at its peak the team did a great job; even though we could have used more people, they have improved immensely, and their finishing time got better every day that we were on the track. I think we could have done better if more poeple had returned," said coach Michelle Fikstad.

They had enough determination to make every year a better year then the one before, and enough potential to leave foot prints for othes to follow. "I think we had a good team and I think we a lot of fun despite the amount of people. said Daniel Wold (03). Coach Michelle Fikstad believes that the cross-country team can hold a school record in the years to come. "I think our team is somewhere in the middle and I believe that everyone has improved on their mile time," said Ryan Shelton (04).

We had a good year and I believe that we have come together as a team, said Phillip LaCort (03).

I joined the cross-country team to learn how to run and get a good work out. I think we improved a lot since coach put us on varsity.

Coach Michelle Fikstad and Ryan Shelton(04) run ahead to lead the team.

The Cross-Country team is running hard at a practice to prepare for the big game against American High School.

Nicholas Remelman(05) is encouraged by Coach Fikstead as he makes a turn.

Making the GOALS

"Take the shot!" That was the phrase most heard when a goal was in range. Our Varsity girl's, soccer team showed an amazing effort. Though their season was not marked for victory, they have not lost hope for a better season next year. "I think we did great with what we had to work with, but I'm really looking foward to next year, and I hope the girls will work better as a team next year," said Maria Ramirez (03). The end of the season marked the end of several seniors,' high school, soccer careers. "I have fulfilled my four years of soccer in high school and I plan to continue playing throughout my future," said Monique Contreras (02) happily. The following seniors will not be returning: Allison MacDonald, Jaime Rojo, Rochelle Valles, and Monique Contreras. So long ladies, you will be missed! The season was not one of the best, but as long as our girls can say they gave it their best, that's all we could ask from them. "The girls' soccer team was good and we definitely had skill. It's just that we didn't know where to put which girls in what positions. Hopefully next year we'll have a better idea of where to put people on the field." said Coach Kwok.

This year marked the return of our Junior Varsity team. Most of the girls on J.V. were first time players. "It was very interesting to see where they would fit or where their talents would be best used," said Coach Ward. Anyone who went to the games would agree that our ladies gave it their best shot. "The games were very exciting and usually filled with anitcipation," said Christopher Gonzalez (03). The J.V. team had one win, which was at American High School. "When we won that game, I think it gave us all more confidence," said Yoalnda De La Paz (04). Well, to both the J.V. and the Varsity: Great job and better luck next year ladies!

Jessica Busi (03) looks around for a teamate to pass the ball. "A little help here, please!"

Check out these J.V. girls as this mighty Titan struggles hard to steal the hot ball away from the American Eagles.

That's it girls, move those legs! Steal the ball! Michelle Moore (03) and Lily Zeng (03) back each other up to make a goal.

"Not this time, American! It's MY turn to make the goal!" Nothing will stop Maria Ramirez (03) from blocking the ball against the other team.

Courtney Martinez (04) already knows what to do and is totally ready for the second round.

see us score...

The center passed the ball to the outside; the wing dribbled it down the field and then crossed to the middle. The center leapt up into the air and headed the ball towards the left post... Goal!!! For that player, and the rest of the team, all their anguish and torture caused by after school practice were finally redeemed as they celebrated thier glory of scoring a goal. This is soccer; the most popular sport in the world, at its best. "Soccer is the best sport of all and it isn't kick the ball and run, its the toughest sport of all. No Wimps Allowed!" said Asmir Sojkic (02). For this sport, giving up is simply out of the question. Hard work, ambition, and pride are the things needed for a team to do well. For our boys the only thing missing was the drive for victory. "We all have it in our heads that we couldn't win, that was the most upsetting thing of all," said Jerry Torres (02). Throughout the season the men's soccer team put up a fight every game, never giving up or caving in. Unfortunately, the season didn't quite progress from last year, which had been promising. This year's team however, consisted of many, skilled underclassmen, and might very well be the beginning of great more seasons to come.

Manuel Farias, Aaron Kurup, Asmir Sojkic, Cesar Ramirez, Jason Stemm, Taro Naoi, Keith Akiyama, Dexter D'sa, Jerry Torres, Osvaldo Torres, Jay Patel, Jesus Garcia, Kevin Ma, Edwardo Peralta, Raul Gonzalez, Julian Mateus.

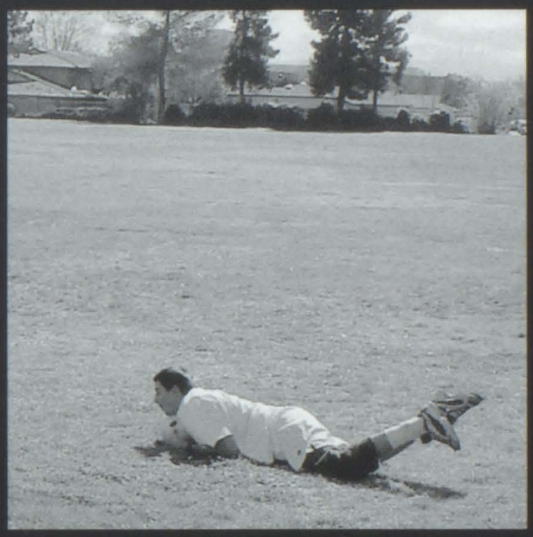
Easy Cesar Ramirez (04), or you'll probably get a yellow card for your temper.

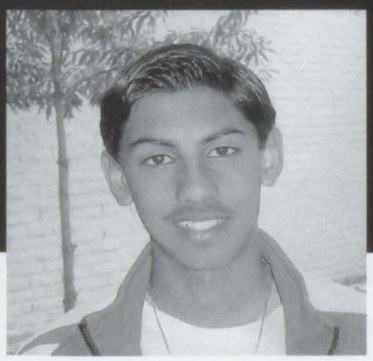
"Our practices were tough, but that was okay since we had good coaches. I think next year we'll do better though."

- Keith Akiyama (04)

Professional player in a closed field, Cesar Ramirez (04). Do Not attempt this spectacular bicycle kick unless you are a soccer player!

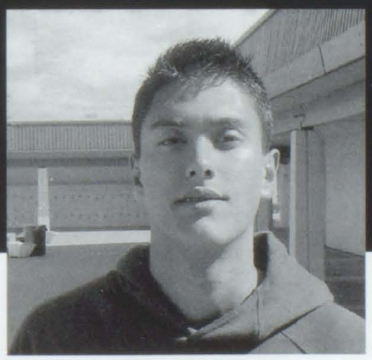
I guess goalie Jesus Garcia (03) has to do, what he has to do. Even if it's eating dirt for the team.





"Our record wasn't the best, but we are beginning to learn how to play as a team. Next year it will be different."

- Dexter D'sa (05)



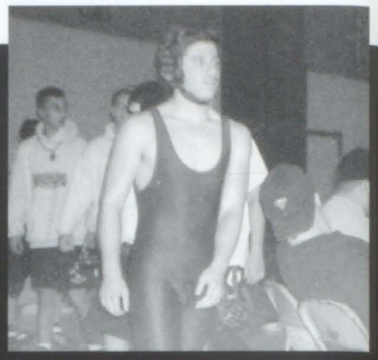
"I thought that this season was frustrating, but I was happy that many of our players were able to improve by the end of the year. Hopefully next year the team will find more success."

- Aaron Kurup (02)

"Man on, man on!" hopefully this is what Julian Mateus' (02) teammates were shouting at him here, otherwise he'll be in for a painful surprise.

Ready to Wrestle

Adam Caraliuz (05) gets ready for his next match.



Walk in the middle of a conversation that the wrestling team was having and you expected to hear them talk about their opponents and their chances of winnin. All the guys talked about cars, hard work, girls and life. This was clearly a testosterone filled atmosphere, but on top of everything, it looked like a challenge. "What I enjoy most about this is winning when other people don't think I can," stated Andrew Miranda (02), Captain of the Wrestling team. This year the wrestling team had to combine both varsity and J.V. which created a close-knit team. "This year J.V. did better than we had anticipated. We actually placed 5th out of 7 at one tournament," Josh Allan (05) said. Practices were filled with rigorous stretching and excercises almost every day after school. The team competed in many all-day tournaments that show their endurance and skill. There were many challenges to face, but the team "wrestled" through them with style and dignity.

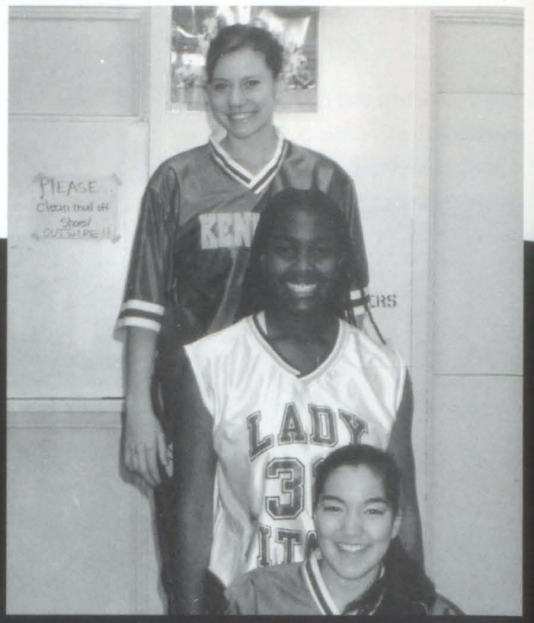
A glance at Lady hoops



Lets go Titans! Lets go! Everyone yelled from the stands as the new, and very much improved varsity team took up the court in an effort to make Kennedy # 1. "We are going to show everybody what kind of purple people we are, I know we can do it we just need to keep working as a team and play all four quarters," said Stephanie Gentrup (03). For the first round of games, these ladies have only played three quarters and now they have successfully brought their game up to four quarters. "We had a great year and I think we improved a whole lot and I hope that the team stays together and sets the record straight when I leave," said Jacquelyn Orr (02). Second year coach Thirkell Debellotte has dedicated a lot of his time to build a program for the Titans and helped them to believe that they can do whatever they put their minds to, if they worked together as a team. "I think the year was a lot of fun and I think we improved a lot," said Rebecca Ross (04). The team has the talent and definitely the speed, the question is do you believe? WELL DO YOU?

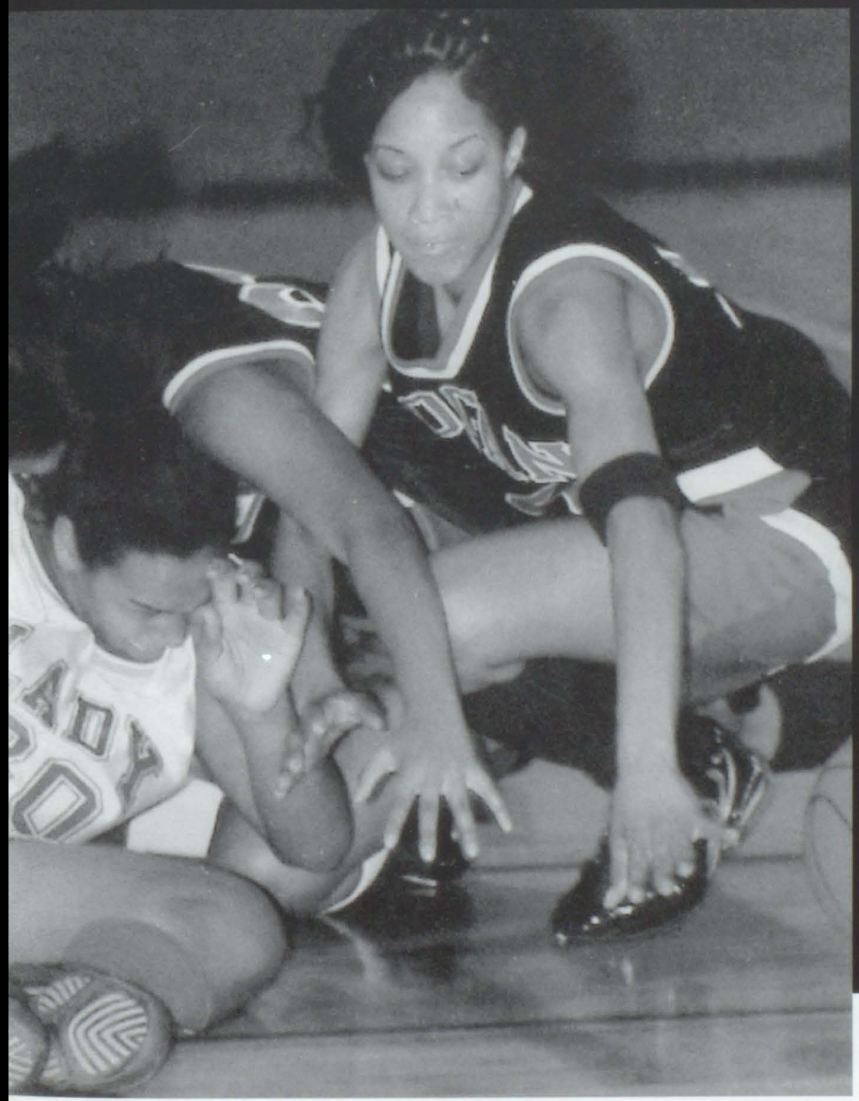
"The team has surpassed everyone elses expectations but I knew that we were Champions from the first time I started working two years ago," said coach Thirkell Debellotte.

Senior's Laura Oswald, Gloria Cooper, and Jackie Shibata take time out of dressing to pose for a picture before the big game.

Erica Scoles (04) and Cathy Gentrup (03), old J.V. buds take a picture for old time sake.

"When I joined varsity I noticed that they worked together and helped each other even though everyone isn't exactly friends off the court. On the court we helped one another," said Sammy Kiggins (05).



Natalie Petrie (03) dives on the floor in an attempt to get the ball and while doing so drags three Logan members with her.

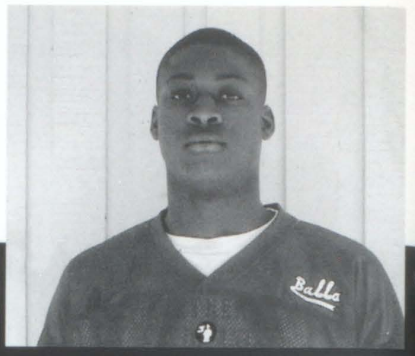
Keep YOUR EYES on the BALL



At a loss for words, Devonte Thomas (05) says, "We'll do even better next time."

"Defense...Defense..." the audience chanted as the Titans defense became stronger by each passing game. In the middle of becoming a team the Titans have gained a new player Devante Thomas a freshman. "I think Devante is good for the team, and he is a great help down low. Devante has taken a big step up and will be a great player in the years to come. To improve our team I think we could have hurried back on "D" and helped out our team mates to keep our post men out of trouble, more chemistry would have helped the team, but we are young and all we can do is continue to trust each other," said James Larson (02). Even though the score board doesn't show it the Titans have gained the upper hand and are striving to set the record straight for next years big challenge. "I don't think we have improved because we still argue with each other on the court and we talk back to the coach,we also had a hard time because we only played one quarter, but for next year inorder to win we need to play together and respect our coach," said Ross Roman (04). Although the season did not turn out the way they planned the Titans still stood tall with their heads held high.

"I think we had an O.K. year and, thanks to our coach, for putting in a lot of time to do whats best for the team," said David Huffman (03). The team starts improving themselves to meet the high expectations of their coach, so next year they can bring the victories to show everybody what a true Titan is really made of."I think the season could have been better but overall it wasn't that bad, I feel I have improved a lot during the year," said Alvin Paras (03). Titans hope to have more victories in the years to come.

"It has been a very fun year and I think I have improved a lot this year,".Said Michale Siegfried (03).

"The year didn't turn out as I had expected but all we can do is hope for the best next year," said coach Dave Domelle.

OBSERVE the J.V. balling Skills

"This year we lost our starting player and Coach so the season started out rough, hopefully next year will be better."

- Monica Orr (04)

Driving the ball up the court and fighting thier way through each game, the lady Titans played aggressively, which led to much improvement from last season. These girls were proud of their courage and will to win. For the girls, watching the ball go through the net, sent a soaring boost of cheers for the team. " This year as a freshman I enjoyed playing J.V. Basketball and I'm looking forward to playing Varsity,"said Amanda Lopez (05). Even though the girl's team did not have their own coach, they still continued to play with an admirable passion, despite the fact that they shared the varsity coach. " We made a huge improvements this year," remarked Rachel Zinbrick (04). The team remained together, and played hard to win and finish the season successfully. Although they may not have won all of their games they certainly have a promising future ahead of them and looked forward playing next season.

Watching the ball go up the court, we hear the crowd cheer for the Titans. Go Team Go!

all EYES on the Ball

Basketball was a sport that got everyone on the edge of their seat. So much happens can in the last two minutes of the game. "Before every game, you get a little nervous, but very excited at the same time. That makes the games so fascinating," replied Tri Phan (05). This was the first year of high school basketball for freshmen. They were given the chance to show off all of what they had been practicing since they were little. "Being our first year, this season turned out a lot better than I had expected," exclaimed Jackie Chan (05). Freshmen always stepped out onto the court with dedication and determination in their eyes. With harsh practices everyday, long days at school, and then a game, some wondered how these players did it. "Its still unbelievable that we had such a high record with such a small team," said Sandeep Sunny (05). Freshmen had the highest record at the end of the season, they finished with winning eight out of twelve games.

With zero seconds on the game clock, Adam Pitre's (05) final free throw can win the game for Kennedy.

The Junior Varsity team had a tougher time getting on the right track. "It was difficult going through a coaching change in the middle of the season but we strived to do our best," commented Herman Mann (03). Although they won just three of their games, the J.V. team stayed in high spirits. Franco Curiel (04) explained, "This season was tough and very competitive, but fun at the same time." The team learned how to deal with the predicaments that came with the sport. "The coaches always showed a lot of support toward us, so in turn, we always showed our determination to play our hardest," stated Paul Luc (04). Though both seasons ended in loss, the skills learned from the games will go on to work as an advantage in games to come.

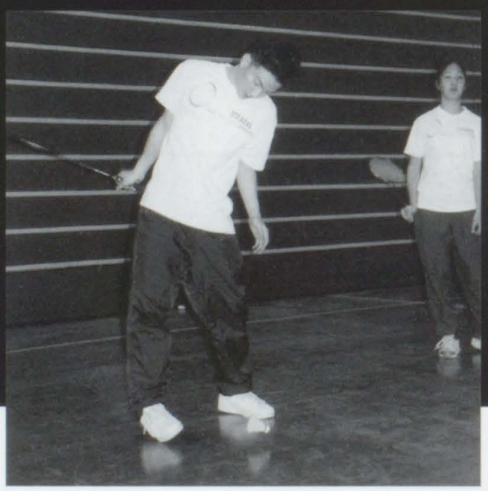
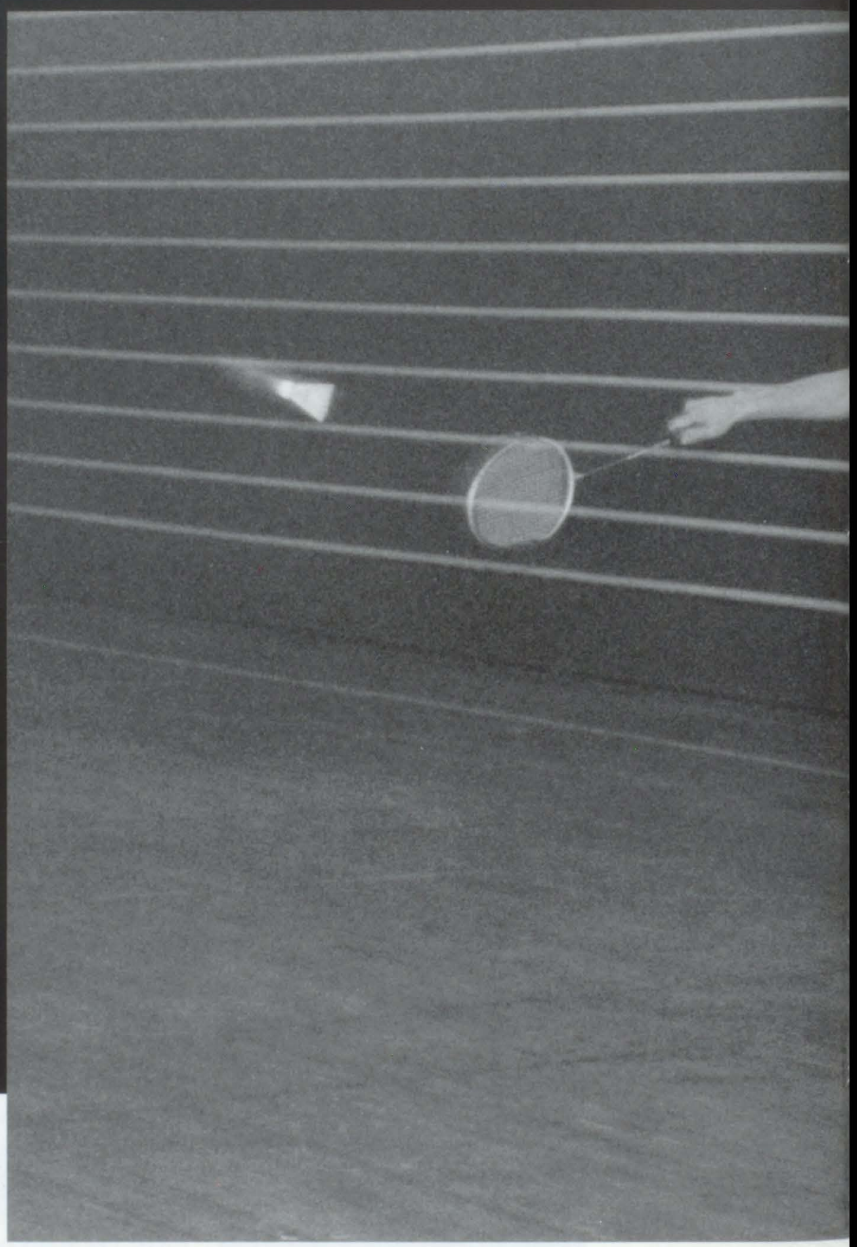
"If birds can fly, so can I!" exclaims Jeremy Kwan (03) as he finishes hitting the birdie with ease.

"Is a '300 dollar' racket really working or what? Of course!" thinks Kimhak Em (03).

Look at how Khaing Sabe (02) concentrates as she prepares to make the perfect serve to her opponent.



Whoops! How did that birdie get down there David Kim (02)? Hmm... Maybe because you missed?



Myo San-Htoo (02) confidently returns a smash to the other side of the net and awaits for his opponent's next move.

Spot the Birdie!

Angela Nhan (04) stands in ready position to return her adversary's serve.

Clear, smash, drop, drive, and most importantly, footwork; these were some of the basic skills badminton players needed to know in order to play the game well. What was so hard about hitting a plastic birdie over a net? Most thought, "Not much." However, looks were deceiving and the game was not as easy as it seemed. "Most people think that badminton isn't a sport just because it looks easy, but it IS a sport and really isn't easy," said Meha Tailor (04). The conditioning that took place before try-outs tested the dedication and commitment of each player. This foreshadowed the abilities of the new and returning players of the team. "As a varsity player, I believe the key to a strong team is to train and assist the younger players to ensure success in the years to come," commented Martin Young (03). The new coach and assistant coach, JoAnn Garcia and Tracey Adams, led the team through the hardships and triumphs that came with playing in the league. When Coach JoAnn was asked for a comment on the team, she simply replied, "The level of hardwork and dedication of these athletes was reflected in their winning season."

VICTORY in Sight

"Hustle! Hustle! Hustle!" These painful words were often heard by the boys' tennis team. Coach Ed Stark was known for keeping his players in shape and constantly sore. However, this training was needed in order to keep up the team's stamina and determination throughout the season. Coach Stark taught the new players, styles and form they were not used to using, and made returning players work harder than before. Next year the team will be losing many of its dominating seniors, but fear not, the strong underclassmen will pull through. "I think next year's team will improve and be even better than this year," said Kevan Shah (02). "Since we're losing a lot of seniors, we will be a young team, but there will be a good chance to improve," commented Arman Rezaee (03). In the meantime, this year was a great hustle.

TITAN Wahine

Coach Kemo, informs the girls about Hawaiian culture, as well as the rules of softball.

Batters up! This season started out with a bang! On their opening game, they defeated San Lerandro 17- 7 and it only got better. They may be girls, but they're not afraid to get down and dirty when it comes to winning. "We're all strong in certain areas and it's our determination that got us where we are," said Ebony Bashii (05). This year's varsity team has only one, returning player, who is also one of the four captains: Rochelle Valles. She stated, " With the whole new program we have recived from, Coach Kemo, it has taught us unity and team pride." Although all but one of the team players are new to the varsity team, they still show as much unity as they would if they had been playing together for years. "We have a good group of Wahine (women), it's all about he'le'ale'a (having fun). We're going to have an exciting and strong future," said Coach Kemo. It's their determination, unity, and team pride that led them to be the best, and made this an outstanding season.

TAKING it all THE WAY Home

Let's play ball!!! This season our Varsity Boy's baseball team was full of spirit and ambition to win every game, and climb to the top. "We had good practices, as we hustled and worked hard together to make a better team," said C.J. Johnson (02). As they struggled in practices, they kept striving for success. With each individual's talent, they were able to call themselves a team, and be the best that they could be. With all these talents put together, and the heart of the team, we knew we had one of the best teams this school had ever seen. "A team should be strong as soon as all the new members come around," said Daniel Hogan (02). Despite the fact that some of the greatest talent moved on last year, they were able to find new members with a great passion for the game. "It's been a great learning and working experience for me," said Brian LaTreille (04). Baseball was not just a game it was a lifetime experience. It allowed people to expand, not just physically, but mentally as well. It showed these boys what teamwork was all about and how to overcome obstacles. With Coach Vasconcellos at their side with encouragement, support, and his great coaching techniques, they accomplished their goals for this year. They had the right recipe for a dignified and successful team.

Getting ready for practice, Micheal Siegfried (03) warmed up by stretching out his muscles.

With all his might, Kenneth Schwartz (03) throws the ball home.

Brian La Treille (04) keeps his eyes wide open to catch the ball that's coming his way.

Brett Vasconcellos (05) hits a perfect ball and is now ready to round the bases. Hurry hurry!

Brian La Treille (04) turns rapidly to the coach to see what the call is.

Daniel Hogan (02) bunts the ball as he improved his batting skills during practice.

Isaac Corniel (02) takes a lead as he prepares to steal a base and make it safely home.

Taking a time OUT!

Everyone knew that even the most serious athletes let loose every once in a while and showed us their goofy side. Of course, they didn't always win all of their games or matches, but that didn't matter because the Titan Spirit pulled through and showed us their good sportsmanship and humor. Sit back and enjoy "Half time," the less serious side of sports.

"I would have to say my most embarassing moment on the court was when Alvin tried to pass me the ball, but I wasn't paying attention, so it hit me in the face."

- Dustin Nahale (03)

So what was your most embarrassing moment on the soccer field? "The time I had to take a conner kick, and when I went to kick the ball, I slipped and fell on my butt."

- Amber Miskella (05).

Ladies, Ladies, it's not nice to fight! Rachel Zimbrick (04) and Nenita Lopez (03) wrestles over the ball.

Think fast! Maybe not fast enough...Sammie Kiggins (05) winces as the ball flies at her. Ouch!

Skill, determination, focus. Hmm... or maybe Nick Remelman (03) is in search of a bathroom.

(Left) This picture gives a whole new meaning to weight training. Hey, he's a tough wrestler, he can take it.

J.V. ALL the WAY

Matt Kilthau (05) makes a dash to first in hopes to score for the team.

The J.V. baseball players' spirits were high as they approached their season. ""I was excited about the season starting because we had a really good team," said Robert Luna (04). The boys had fun playing and practicing for the tougher teams, such as Newark, Irvington, and Logan. "There is some competition for spots on the team, but that's good because we get better players out of it," said Randae Scharnow (04). The team got new uniforms for a fresh start, and were all set to win. "Winning is important, but we don't have to win every game," said left fielder and pitcher, Matt Kihlthau (05). "I am excited about the season because we've started off good and we have a shot at the playoffs," said Keith Gandy (04). The J.V. boys were expecting the best out of this season. "I think the season will be pretty good," said Chris Tran (04), who was in his first year of baseball. With some players who have been playing baseball since they were little, as well as some who just started this year, the team had the experience and talent along with eagerness that was sure to win them many games.

Kathryn Choy (03) rests after her long swim to victory.

Megan Steinert (02) shows Mission how Kennedy does a real backstroke.

Ready! Get set! Go! Jeremy Carpenter (03) gets ready for the signal to start.

Watch where you're SWIMMING!

Matt Allen (02) swims with all his might trying to bring Kennedy a victory.

Swimming was a friendly sport to some, but to Titan's children; a competitive series of trial and error. Kennedy's Varsity swimming team has come a long way, and now the practices had payed off. "I liked swimming because it was very aggressive and it took a lot of stamina. Swimming to me is like 90% mental and 10% physical, you have to want to win in order to win," said Megan Steinert (02). Although it was very cold outside, the water felt like a warm sunny day to the swimmers. "The water is very cold during practice, but when the meet comes around the corner, it starts to get warm in the pool and outside," said Julian Mateus (02). "When we face off, we try our hardest. At some meets, we tend to lose, but we give them a challenge where they have to go home and practice harder," said Mallory Furnier (04). Swimming may not look competitive, but when you watch closely it's a whole new ball game.

Swimmers in Sight

"Swimming was the most intense sport i have plaed because of all the rigorous conditioning."

- Ashley Moore

Bang!!! The gun goes off for the meet to start. Is that the backstroke? The J.V. swim team has shown their many styles of swimming, such as the backstroke, breaststroke, sidestroke, and freestyle. "Breaststroke is my favorite because it's not as tiring as the other three," said Daniel Keesee (03). Swimming was a very challenging sport. It's tiring and there are many types of strokes to learn. "I would have to say the most challenging thing about swimming would have to be trying to do everything right all the time. But its also interesting because you learn the different kinds of strokes and techniques," said Jenel Glover (05). Our mighty swimmers went through chilly weather with harsh winds, to hot and sunny days, but this did not stop their Titan spirit!

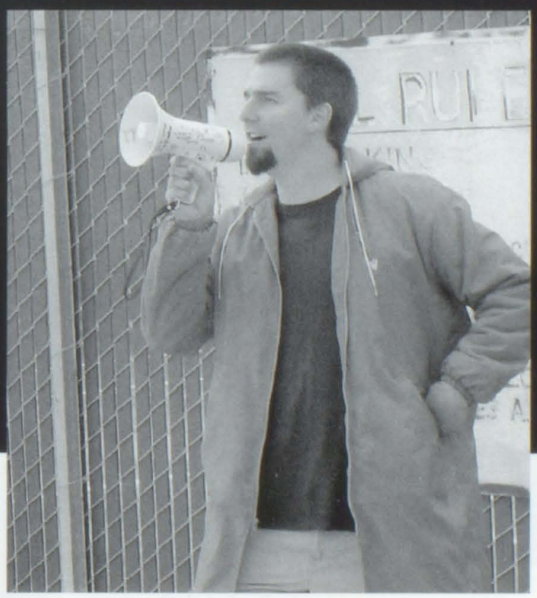
Vanessa Ramirez (05) takes off and is ready to do the Backstroke as the meet starts.



Swim faster! Backstroke! Backstroke! Coach Jeff Hancock encourages his team to do their best.

Josh Allen (03) pops his head up for for a breathe of air before he continues on to the finish line.

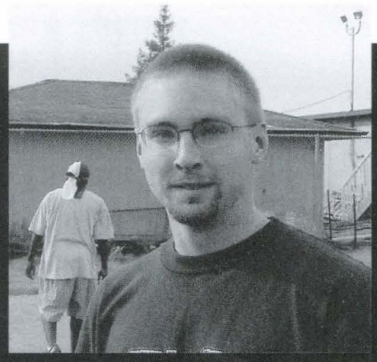
Jason Santiago (03) jumps over another hurdle as he sprints toward the finish line.

James Larson (02) proves to us that he can jump the furthest and get first place.

Luis Ruelas (03) quickly takes a jog around the track field to warm up for practice later.

"The team is smaller than the past, but the athletes that we have are really pushing themselves and doing well. They will do well this season."
- Danny Maxfield

TAKE off and GO



When you glanced at the track, what was the first thing that came to your mind? Running? There was more to track and field than just running. There was shot put, discus throwing, hurdles and the long jump. "Track is fun, but it also consists of a lot of hardwork and dedication throughout the season," quoted Julianna Yee (02).The season started with long and tiring practices. "I would get so tired after practicing for a full 2 hours each day," said Evyn Roman (04). As the days went by, runners were sore and found muscles they didn't even know they had. "I could feel new muscles in my body develop and grow stronger after every practice," said Skyler Vickroy (03). Strains, pulls, twists, cramps, shin splits, and bruises affected the team, which left many players unable to practice and train for the season. "The first week and a half was the worst to handle, but after my muscles were used to the stress, it was fine," stated Joe Lara (04). As the months during track quickly went by, the Titans grew stronger as a team, and helped each other out with their strengths and weaknesses. "I'm glad I had my teammates helping me out all the time and pushing me to do my best," said Jordan Anaya (05).The freshman asked many questions at the beginning of the year. How strong is the team? How will we finish? After the first meet, they knew thier answers. The team was strong and finished well.

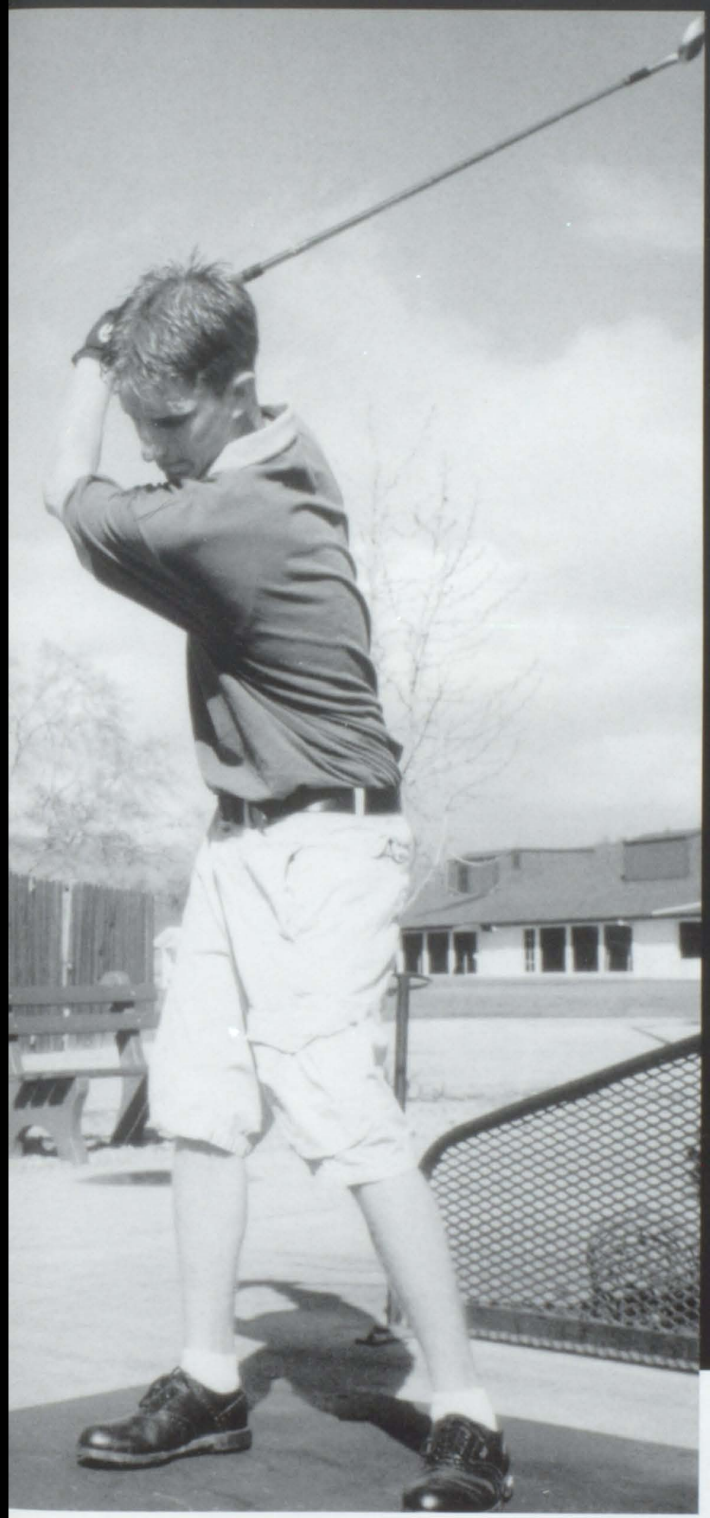
Swing for the GREEN

Fore!!! From the first drive off the first tee, to the last putt on the final green, golf seemed like it would never end. "Sometimes it takes forever to get the ball in the hole, but its all good when I finally get it in," said Chris Yates (04). Golf was a sport that required great patience and concentration. "It required many hours of practicing and hitting many golf balls to play this sport well," said Chris Gonzalez (03). At times it may have seemed like it was nearly impossible to get your ball into the hole. However, many golfers agreed that playing the sport helped them relax and gave them a chance to have fun while playing. "Golf helps me relax because no one can tell me what to do, so I can just have fun," said James Busi (05). With the rising popularity of golf, many young people have turned to golf as a new way to have fun. Whether you were struggling as a beginner or a veteran trying to improve beyond your best, support from teammates was as great a part of golf as the practice put into it. Many players enjoyed a sport that they don't have to be an expert at right away, to be part of the team. "When I first started, last year, it took a while to hit the ball good, now I feel that no matter how I do, I can only help the team," said Matias Bustamante (04).



Chris Gonzalez (03) perfects his golf swing at the range minutes before his match.

8-letter

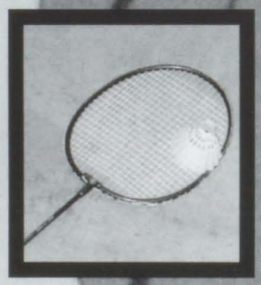
Receiving the eight-letter award was not an easy task to accomplish, but somehow four of our senior Titans earned it. These students put in a lot of effort throughout a four year time period, and were highly respected by their fellow classmen. "I look up to these players because they have a lot of talent that I wish I had and I hope that I can live up to their example," said Nenita Lopez (03). These students were Mark Chartier, Rochelle Valles, Rachel Lo, and Khaing Sabe. Mark Chartier accomplished four-years Varsity Wrestling, two -years Varsity Football, one-year Varsity Track and Field, and one-year Varsity Baseball. Rochelle Valles willingly put in a lot of time to play four-years Varsity Softball, two-years Varsity Soccer, and two-years Varsity Vollyball. The last two students Rachel Lo and Khaing Sabe (teammates) have managed to successfully accomplished four-years Varsity tennis, and four-years Varsity Badminton. Congratulations to these outstanding students who have inspired other young athletes and have earned the eight-letter award!

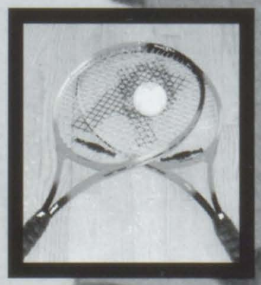
"I loved to play sports and it was really fun playing all four years."

Khaing Sabe (02)

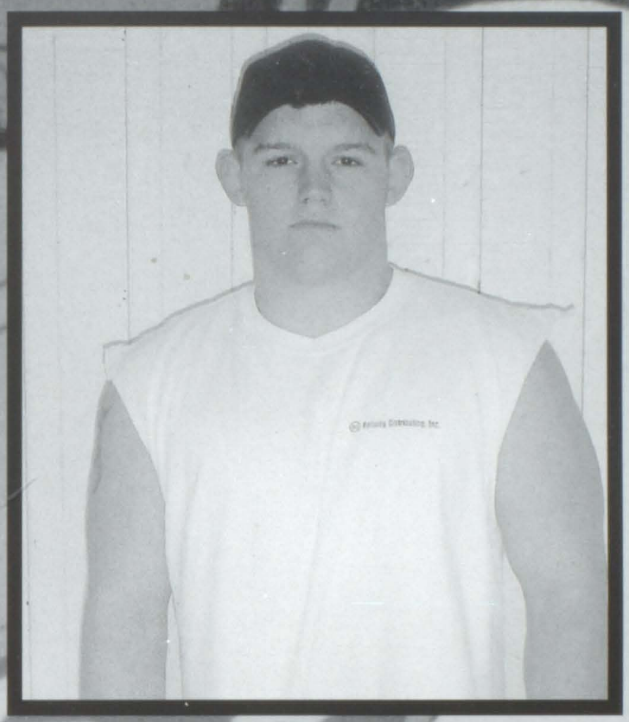
"My teammates were always there to encourage me and make the game more fun to play."

Rachel Lo (02)



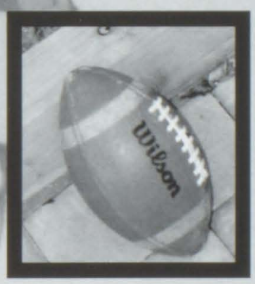


Award



"The most challanging thing for me was Wrestling. You had to be there mentally and physical."

Mark Chartier (02)



"The biggest challenge that I faced was managing time for three seasonal sports, a job, and school."

All Eyes on Us

When you looked around in classrooms, you'd instantly notice the variety of "People". Each unique personality, style, and attitude defined the true meaning of the "Titan Spirit". The freshmen entered the halls with a mixture of enthusiasm and nervousness to finally be here to experience high school life and didn't know what to expect for the next four years. "I was excited to start high school, but a little nervous and I even almost peed in my pants," said Ben Sexton (05) This feeling was expelled by the time they became sophomores and created a new feeling of family in their school. "It is better than being a freshman because it is one step closer towards being an upperclassman," said Mike Mercado (04). The juniors were acknowledged as upperclassmen and began to work hard for their future. This year was the most imporant because it created the most impact on their four years. "It's harder to be a junior because there is more work for us and it is very challenging," said Rachelle Koga (03). The seniors prepared for their "new life" out of school. They no longer worried about hard classes, but worried and stressed over college and of their future as adults. "It feels good to finally move on because there are more oppurtunities set for us," said Marlene Cendejas (02) Students and teachers came together to develop a better education and taught each other what they had to offer. "Sacrifices are made to show the importance of teachers and students. The uniqueness of Kennedy comes from the student body and staff and we work together to learn new things from each other," said Mr. Palmieri (Spanish teacher). The year was filled with many trials and tribulations such as arguments with friends, difficult classes, and personal crises that could have separated and changed all of us in some way, but eventually, we pulled through and whatever happened to us, our student life has remained in us forever.

A Closer Look At The Staff

How well do you know your teachers' catch phrases?

1. "Have a good weekend, stay out of trouble and stay out of jail."
2. "How come you're not smiling?"
3. "Details, pay attention to details!"
4. "Don't forget, look for your name on the detention list or you'll get a Saturday."
5. "Anyways..."
6. "Security!"
7. "Only vaccum cleaners suck."
8. "Use those detentions slips as decorations."
9. "Don't beat a dead horse."
10. "No peeky-peeky."
11. "Um...okay."

How is life easier with your drivers license?

"You don't have to rely on anybody to get around, and it's easier to have fun."
- Saboor Hatef

"I've had my license for seven months. I still don't have a car but I'm usually the designated driver, and I make store runs all the time."
- Rod Barclay

"Now that I have a license I have a ride to work and I get to go out more over the weekend. I get to go anywhere I want!"
- Genna Panoringan

What are you looking forward to about being a senior?

"Nothing really. It won't be as special and meaningful because Tiffany won't be here with me."
- Dustin Nahale

"Graduation, and finding out who my true friends will be in the end after all the high school drama."
- Cynthia Gutierrez

"Finally being on top. Now only one more year. I can't wait. You will be missed AK, AR, MS, SK, and LO."

What do you do on an average weekend?

"I enjoy doing a varity of things on weekends which include shopping, going to parties, and catching up on some much needed sleep."
- Niya Johnson

"On the weekends I mostly have to work. After work, I like to relax and maybe go to a party with my friends."
- Jessica Earls

" I like to chill with my friends on the weekends."
- Wesley Cobera

"Pay attention Suzzee!" says Daniel Keesee to keep his Spanish buddy, Suzanne Autor awake in class.

Top 5 advantages for being a junior...

1. Junior Prom
2. P.E. is no longer a required class.
3. Most of us are able to drive... (meaning able to CUT!)
4. When you turn 17, no more sneaking into Rated-R movies.
5. Only getting teased by ONE upper class.

Top 5 disadvantages for being a junior...

1. Ms. Veazeys remembers us by BOTH our first AND last names!
2. This is the most stressful year.
3. THREE LETTERS - S.A.T's
4. Knowing that you only have one more year left of high school.
5. We're still not as cool as the seniors.

Middle: "Dang, how much longer do we have to do this!?", complains Armand Baclay as he looked at the clock to see what time it was.
Bottom: Megan Stephens and Sim Kaur take a quick 'sit-down' break to figure out what to paint on the next mural. Non-stop work for these two girls!

"Hey! What did you get on your PSAT's?" asks Victor Hum to Denise Young as she watches the lunch-time rally games in the quad.

Krista Acosta asks her friend Carmen Diaz "Where is everybody?" as they get out of class for the long awaited lunch period.

"Oh my gosh! I think I'm about to sneeze!" exclaims Christina Silva as Silvia Villagomez is interrupted by the incident.

Look at who's excited to get home. Sahar Lutfi smiles as she thinks of what she has planned for the weekend. Nothing, but fun, fun, fun! No more stress over schoolwork!

Sergio Lawas spends a lot of patience and time to make his car run and look its best to show off to everyone.

Hey! Isn't this suppose to be a closed-book test? It sure seems like Herman Mann is concentrating pretty hard.

What is the weirdest word or phrase that you have heard?

"Anything that comes out of my mouth."
- Juan Velasquez

"Sqwerk, it's a mixture of a squirt and a jerk, preferably used for guys."
- Julie Arca

"The weirdest word I heard was Perturbation. It means being bothered."
- Christian Torres

class of 2002...

Seniors 2002

The graduates of 2002 would never have expected themselves to have made it so far, so fast. "I've spent so much time dreaming of what it would be like to graduate and now that the time has come, I'm speechless," said Beverly DeGuzman (02). From the excitement of senior cut day, spirit week, prom, and graduation to the stress of college applications, acceptance/rejection letters to simply meeting graduation requirements, Senior year was by far the most fulfilling and memorable year. "I know that in a couple of years from now, I'm going to wish I was back in high school, sitting in my English class talking to my friends," said Erin Atkinson (02). In total there were 379 seniors in the class of 2002. Each student was priveleged enough to have been taught in a classroom at our school. Despite all of the chaos that took place on our campus during freshman year, as the proposal said to close down the school, our strong spirits and pride kept Kennedy alive. "Life would be perfect if I were at this stage in my life forever, because you're almost an adult, but you can still get away with doing childish things," said Reggie Wills (02).

Is Senior year really as special and memorable as people make it out to be?

"Yes, because it is a large part of high school and we have done lots of things this year that we didn't do before."

- Bogdan Badulescu

"It was actualy a lot more boring than I thought it would be. However, its had its high points and it will be sad to say goodbye."

- Ahmed Erakat

"Yup, senior year is the most memorable year because you get to spend it with all your close friends before we go off to college."

- Ann Nguyen

"Yeah, this year is definitely the best. I treasure my friends more than ever since it's our last year together, and I want to remember it forever."

- Manpreet Mann

"Yeah, this year has been the best because I have less work to do."

- James Obergfell

"No, because it is just another year of school."

- James Howard

"No! This year is just a repetition of all the past years we have experienced here at Kennedy. While it has been fun, most of the time this year has been spent preparing for college and starting our independence from friends and family. Bye everyone!"

- Mayon Sespene

Teachers are like friends. Who is the one teacher that had a major impact on your life and you will remember 10 years from now?

"Mr. Stark is the only teacher I can give credit to. Other teachers blab on and on about the strange growth on their neck, but Stark gets you involved and there is never a dull moment in his class."

- Dana Lopez

"I never did well in English and when I came to Ms. Tahamont's class everything changed for me. She helped me understand all of the concepts of English."

- Melissa Perry

"Mr. Webb is the coolest teacher here. When I had woodshop, I was one of the only girls and he made it a point to help me out and make my work better then the rest."

- Sylvia Chavez

"Ms. Armstead is one of the coolest teachers because you could talk to her about any type of problem and she'd give you the advice you wanted to hear."

- Ronnie Malabanan

"I will never forget Ms. Calvert. She always helped me figure out what to do about my future. She has helped me get on the road to success."

If you could live your high school years over, what would you change?

"I would play football all four years, instead of just playing my freshmen year. I would tried out for baseball and I would study harder."

- Brian Siedentopf

"I would be nicer to people, because I regret all the enemies I made."

- Kelley Kerr

"I would change my friends, some of my teachers, I would play sports, and change some classes that I took that were worthless."

- Matt Allan

"I would have been more careful of what I told people."

- Stacy Quintana

"I would have cherished my friendships and not allow gossip and ridicule get in the way of good things."

- Jennafer Chavez

"I wouldn't change anything, because everything that happened throughout the last 4 years were meant to be that way. So there's no point in changing the pass, but your future is a whole new story. Just live life so that you don't have too many regrets when its time for you to go."

Who would be the first person that you would say good-bye to after the grduatioin ceremony?

"Hm...either Stark! Or Mr. Peralta. Whoever I see first."
- Tiffany Ng

" I would say goodbye to all my friends and all my teachers."
- Myo San-Htoo

"Mrs. Stricklin and Mrs. Nix."
- Diana Duong

"The first person I would say bye to is Mrs. Veazey (You can't catch me any more!)"
- Michelle Cantlon

"I would say goodbye to my friend Scooby."
- Amit Aggarral

"Hmm...I would probably just say 'later' because I'll see these people again someday."
- Mike Ponce

"Let me see.....I would have to say Mrs. Vasconcellous."
- Alicia Dauth

"The first person I would say goodbye to would be my sister Alex."
- Estela Haro

"Probably Ms. Santillan, and the rest I'll see you all around."
- Abel Sandoval

Who do you expect to still be friends with when you're old and gray?

"In about 60 years, I see Jenneen Hartshorn and myself playing Bingo on Monday nights and singing karaoke with James Larson and Curtis Megofna."

- Andrea Franco

"When I'm old and gray I'll have a private Island with my friends; Chris Portugal, Armand Barclay, Jarick Venenciano, Ayman Ahmed, Osvaldo Torres, Michael Ponce, Dung Pham, Matt Stein, and Josh Hackney. We'd drink pearl tea, eat fried rice, and sing punk songs on the karaoke machine all day."

- Nathan Chanvimol

"Hopefully I'll still be friends with Constance, Jax, Austin, and Crassy. Everyone's seperating this summer, but I think these friendships could last, or at least I hope they can."

- Christina Peter

"In the future when I grow older, I would like to hang out with my best friend Vanquynh, Tammy, Rachel. and all the other Burmese that I know and shout out to all badminton players. =] Team Spirit."

- Ngo Phu

"When I'm old and shriveled up, the friends I will still be with is my LBR friends because they're my family and they will always be there for me."

- Alex Dinh

"When I'm old and all pruned up, I'd probably still be hangin' out with the one and only LBR. Still racing but only this time in our wheel chairs. GO LBR GO!"

- Andrew Camaisa

"I am not going to have friends when I am older, I am going to swing on a porchswing and have a lot of cats. Naw, probably my white girls...we off the hook."

- Laura Oswald

Has "senioritis" affected you and if so, how?

"I've had 'senioritis' for 4 years and I still managed to pull things off and pass." - Mario Quezada

"Well, it's boring because you have two classes that you really have to take, so by the end of the day you want to cut out and you do because we have cars." - Gloria Cooper

"It hasn't really affected me because I still come to school like all the other years. Its just really boring." - Jennifer Stevens

"Well procrastination caused me to get behind on my work and it was really difficult to raise my grades again." - Jennifer Puebla

"'Senioritis' has affected us since we first smelled the wonderful aroma of Applebees' Buffalo Wings, when we found out it was only a short walking distance from the Red Bridge. Now that we have cars, we've discovered a new and more exciting places to eat like In and Out Burger. We cut to go eat! That's the worst!" - Vanessa Cravalho & Ana Munoz

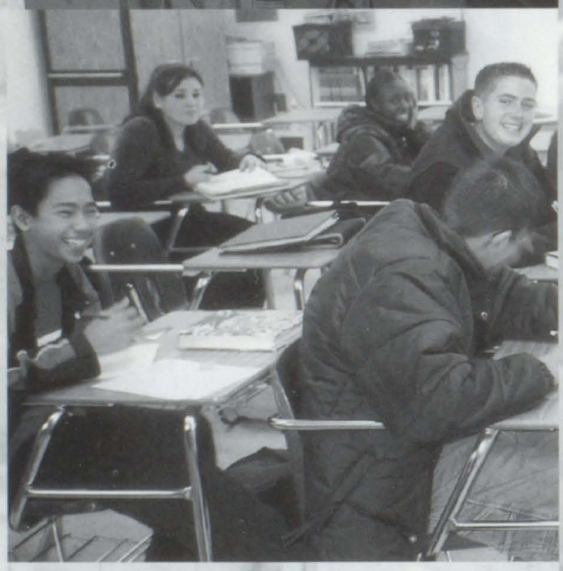
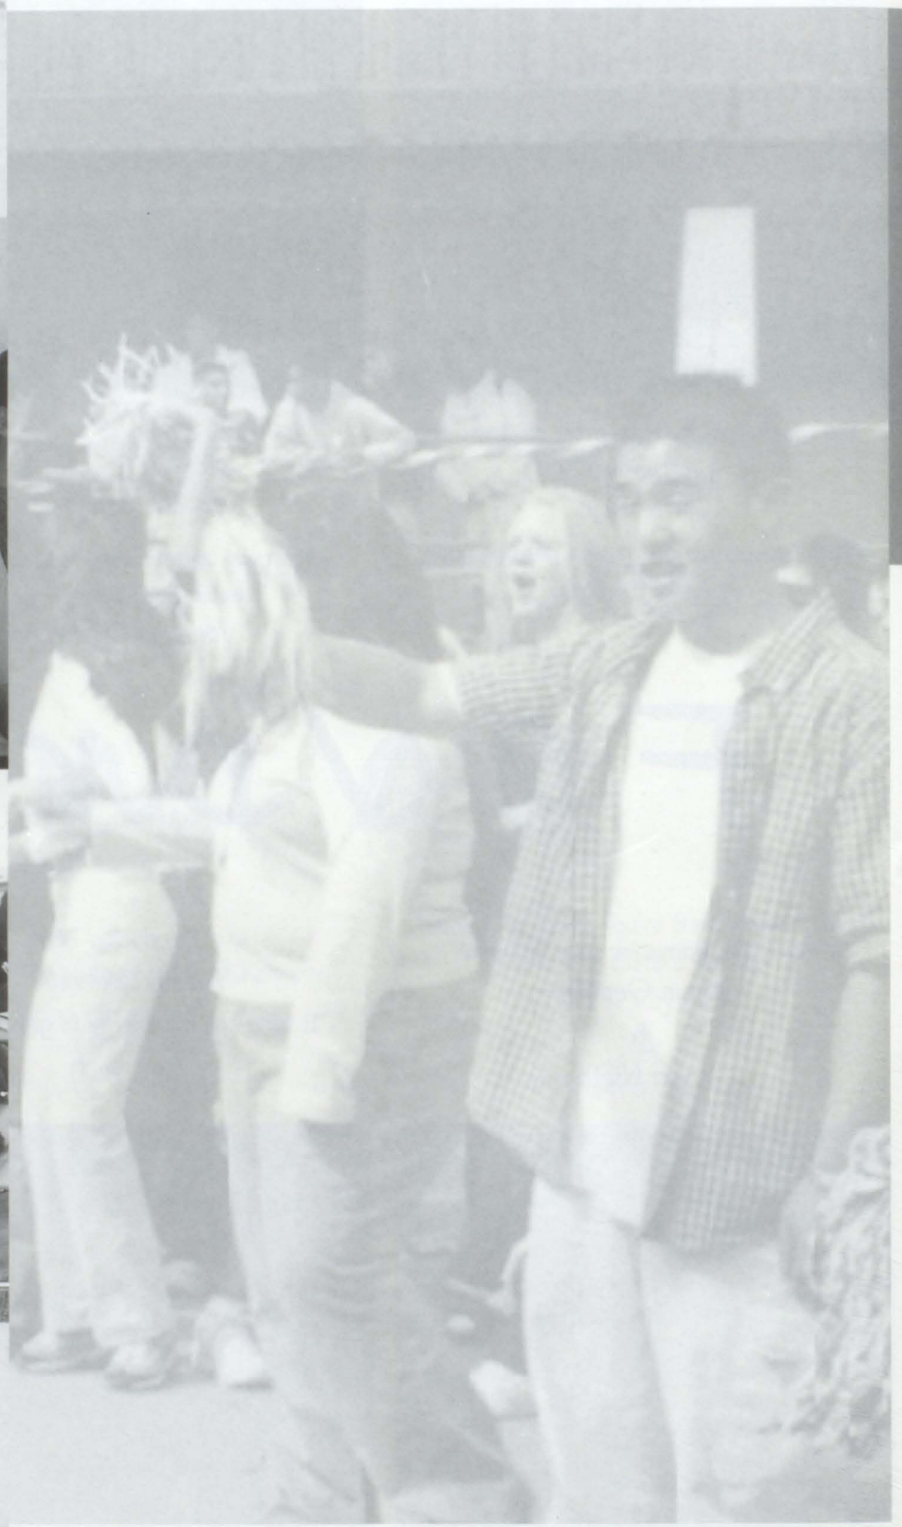
Most Seen Off-Campus





One last Look

As students walked onto campus on September 5th, a myriad of faces, some familiar, some new, flooded the campus with the sound of conversation and laughter. "It felt like I was going to a funeral, but I was happy to see all the people I missed over the summer," Shantelle King (03). The young faces of the freshmen newcomers, brightened the campus and added an energy of excitement. "I'm finally in highschool, I have a lot of anticipation," said Micheal Campos (05). Just weeks later the traditional Spirit Week and the Homecoming game came and left before we knew it. For seniors it was their final chance to show their spirit, but for the freshmen, it was quite a new experience. "It was so much fun, and a lot more than I had expected. I can't wait until next year," said Cassie Griffith (05).

As the days progressed, anticipation over the new school year changed into excitement and anticipation of the upcoming summer. "After the second day of school, I had seen all of my friends, and I was ready for summer again," remarked Mallory Furnier (04). The time from the first day of school, to the tearful goodbyes of the seniors went by fast; too fast for some. "I had fun, and there are a lot of people and teachers that I will never forget because they had such an impact on my life. I will miss everyone," remarked Heidi Sermeno (02).

This year was a year of change, with the introduction of the block schedule and the transformation into a technology magnet. Some thought the changes were great, while some seniors thought the change was hard for their final year of high school."While there was some adjustment that needed to be done, the block schedule proved to be astep in the right direction," said Mrs. Stricklin (Teacher). Others had a different view, "I was kind of mad that the schedule was changed my final year of high school, and it made things hard," stated Kevan Shah (02). In the end, the Titan graduates entered into the world and sampled their first taste of freedom. "After graduating, everything will open up, it's a new world outside of high school man," Norman Yuen (02). For the seniors it was a goodbye after four, long years, and for the underclassmen it was a new page in their memory book, with more to follow.

Chris,

Remember Fraggle Rock then Superman? From Robocop to Thunder Cats? The Bevis and Butthead days I could have lived without. And now... well today you are my Knight in Shimmering Armour. Thank you Chris...you did it!

Love, Mom
Guess what? You get to go to college.

Kimberly Patterson

My little Mother's Day present has grown up into a beautiful, mature, young lady. I am very proud of you, of what you have acomplished, and what i know you will acomplish. I don't tell you that enough, but it is true. May your future be brighter than the brightness you have brought into my life. Take time to stop and smell the roses and to watch the hummingbirds.

Love, Mom

Daniel Hogan

Daniel,

We are very proud of you at this special time in your life. You possess some of life's greatest qualities in that you are persistant and determined in achieving your goals. These characteristics will take you far in life. Always remember we will be behind you all the way down that long winding road. You are destined to go far in life and the only person that will hold you back is yourself. Always keep in mind what the great Jimmy Buffet sang, "If we couldn't laugh, we would all go insane."

Love from Mom & Dad

William Payton

To my son William,
Here are a few words of wisdom from your old dad. Be your own man and never walk away from challenges life holds for you, always live to your potential. I know you will be successful on this journey of life. I will always be there when you need me. I am very proud of all the obstacles you have overcome.

I love you, Dad

Vanessa Cravalho

Vanessa,
Even at this age we knew you were a very unique person with your own independent personality. This has not always been the easiest thing to accept, particularly as you have grown up and become even more independent! It's been hard on your parents and your teachers to limit you with rules and regulations and not have you question our authority. You will make a great lawyer!

Congratulations on making it!
You did it your way!

Laura J. Oswald

Congratulations Laura,
We are proud of the job you have done in school and sports. You are independent, assertive, smart, and funny. Those qualities have been with you since you were a baby. We are proud of what you have done. Enjoy what is ahead and remember that we love you.

Jessica Antonia Reyes

"Hello Baby!"
Jessica you have a talent, you really do, you see people (ha ha). As long as you have air in your lungs, pen, paper, and that extarordinary imagination, there is no telling where your gifts from God will take you.
Remember, the donut shop, he was closed but you really wanted that donut! Never lose that!

We are very proud of you!

Love Mommy & Juni
Jamie, Deanna, and Nina

Christopher Portugal

I admire your commitment to be the best that you can be no matter where you are. Remember, you did your best, and that's okay!
Love U, Mom
I'm proud of the way you completed your first BIG accomplishment. Dream BIG! You can do it!
Love, Dad
You did a fantastic job on this one! My support is yours all the way.
Proudly yours, Ryan
Thank you for being a loving and caring brother.

Christina Peter

Dearest Christina,
You have risen to every challenge with grace and dignity. Your love of all living creatures has given you an insight for life we should all have. Continue on your path knowing that you will have many wonderful adventures and exciting challenges. You will succeed beyond your dreams. No happy time that passes is ever really gone, if it leaves a special memory for looking back upon.

Love Mom, Dad, Nick,
and Veronica

Agnes Kim

Dear Agnes,

Megan Porter

Dear Megan,
We are so proud of you. You have become such an inspiration to the people you touch, so strong in your ideas and values. You know what you want, so don't let anyone tell you different. Follow your dreams and always believe in yourself.

Love Dad, Mom,
Ricky, Katie, Robbie,
and David

Erin Atkinson

Dear Erin,
As you prepare for graduation and start thinking about your future and what it may bring, I think of some of the many great qualities you have developed that will carry you through: Your determination to go for what you want with enough persistance to make it on your own. Your ability to make life fun and take disappointment and differences with an open mind. The ability to learn from the lessons that life has to give.
I have confidence that whatever you choose to do in life, you will do it well. Keep the faith in good things and know that we will always be there for you.
Love, Mom & Ryan

Stefanie Choy

Congratulations Stefanie,
You did it! I have faith and trust you will make the right decisions that will define your future. We wish you all the best on your new ventures in college. It's time for a journey to the world and explore your future in life! We are so proud of you. We wish you success and happiness in life. Love and support forever!

Bonnie Subil

Dear Bonnie,
It seems like yesterday when we put you on that school bus for your first day of kindergarten... We are very proud of the warm and caring person that you have become. We know you will go on to do something that will make the world a better place. Keep smiling like you have since the day you were born.

All our love, Dad, Mom, Katie, and Jenny

Tiffany Jolene Royster

Dear Tiffany:
You did it! You've come a long way and we're very proud of you. This is just the start of the rest of your life. You will succeed in everything you do, go for it.

Love, Mom & Dad

P.S. Yeah ya are!

Alicia Dauth

Alicia,

I can't believe that it's been 18 years since my beautiful "baby girl" was placed in my arms. Watching you grow up has made my life complete and filled it with joy. Even though you were always determined to do everything your way, you could melt my heart with your smile. I am so proud of you! Enjoy life "sissy" and be happy because it goes by fast!

All my love always,
Mom

Gina Spoelman

Gina,

I am so proud of you. You are such a beautiful person. Your dad will be smiling down on you as you take this big step in your life. I know he is VERY proud of you. You have grown up to be the daughter that every parent always dreams of.

XOXO
Love you, Mom

You are a great sister. Many thanks 4 U being there when I needed you.

James Obergfell

We're proud of the young man you have become. Love those three pointers!

Aidan Ali-Sullivan

Dear Aidan,

We are proud of your many accomplishments. You have matured into a kind, caring, thoughtful, and considerate young man. (handsome too!) You do a great job representing your fellow students as the Student Member on the Fremont School Board. As an Eagle Scout you are a great role model. May God continue to guide you always, so you can continue to do great things in the future. You are a great son and brother.

Love always, Mummy,
Daddy, and Laila

Clair Welch

Dear Clair-

Your hard work has paid off! It's time to graduate. Thanks for studying and being so helpful. We are proud of you. We love you very much. Enjoy the journey!

P.S. You're such a butthead!

Megan Glover

Megan,

You have grown from our " Meggie Baby " into a beautiful, intelligent young woman. We are so very proud of your many accomplishments and your ability to obtain your goals. We thank you for being such an inspirational "Big Sister. " You will always have the love and support of your family - congratulations! Live, love, and be happy!

We Love You, Mom and Rob, Dan, and Joan
and J.A.M.S.

Ashley Jaehnig

Ashley,

Seventeen years has gone by so quickly, it seems like only yesterday you were our little baby. You have now grown up and become a loving and caring young lady. Whatever the future brings, we will be proud of you. Remember that we love you and will always be here for you.

Love, Mom and Dad

Jacquelyn Orr

Hey Sweetheart,

Kindergarten to College, how time flies. First of all, I want you to know how I think you are such a wonderful sister to your brother and sister. They couldn't be luckier. As for you... you have been nothing but a blessing in my life. You are such a wonderful young lady with so much future. No matter what, I'll always be proud of you.

All My Love, Mom

Andrea Lynn Fernandez Abejuela

My Dearest Andrea,

Our wish for you had come true with the help of prayers and God's guidance. You know how much this means to us. We are very proud of you for all the hard work and struggle that you did. Don't be afraid to take those next steps and go after all of your dreams. We know you can do it! Congratulations, We love you!!

Mom, Dad, and Kat

The Day Has Come Too Soon

18 years ago, we saw you for the first time and as we held you in our arms, our hearts were filled with an unimaginable pride and joy. We never wanted to let you go, but knew that there would one day come a time when we would have to find the courage to do so. Although that day has come too soon, we look at you now and once again are filled with the same tremendous pride we felt 18 years ago. Although our arms may not be wrapped around you, as you embark on your life's journey, know that our heart is with you and hopes that your adventure will bring you as much joy as you have given us. Whatever path you take in life and wherever you may be, we will always be there for you, and although the day has come too soon, we'll miss holding you in our arms.

Love, Mom and Dad

Gino L. Vieto

You made it! Thank God! This is one of the many steps of life you'll be taking, so take it with God in your heart, faith in yourself, and love for those who love you. And remember respect, responsibility, and dignity! Sea un buen hombre.

Con todo nuestro corazon, te quiere,

Aldo Defide

Aldo,
Words cannot express how you have made us so proud of you! We couldn't have asked for a better son, you are resepectful and a caring person. One day you will have your own son or daughter and you will then understand how we feel about you. Good Luck!

Michelle Ramos

Cheers! You've hurdled high school! Now on to the most important part- college! Go get them!
-Mom and Dad
Congrats! Hope to see you in your college yearbook in your toga.
-Tita Essen
Keep on doing good and more success to your career.
-Rodel
Congrats! You survived high school. You should survive college as well!
-Tita Nenette
Fun and games is almost over, but you're so sweet so start it over. This new life you're stepping on, it's not so easy, be tough and hang on!

Mario Quezada

Can you believe we made it through 3 years? I feel like it's all a dream, I will wake up and you're not going to be there. But I have woken up many times and you're still there. I love you for loving me for whats on the inside, not the outside. I know, in my heart, that what we have is a great thing , lets keep it that way.

Love,
Jennafer

Jennafer Chavez

Life is full of many choices, may you make the right ones in your adult life as you have in your early years. I'm very proud of you and what you have accomplished.

Love, Dad

Athena Kolze

Athena,
You're my littlest all grown up now. We have something pretty unique, with you being a father raised daughter. You have been a good daughter, but certainly not a push over! I am grateful for what we've had and I know we are a long ways from being done. Babygirl, I cannot believe you are graduating!!! You have always made me so proud to be your mother. I know that no matter what you pursue in life I will be able to hold my head high and say, that's my princess. I LOVE YOU!!!

Allison MacDonald

Allison,
We wish you the best of luck in all your future endeavors. We know you'll accomplish anything you put your mind to. We all love you very much and are very proud of your accomplishments.

CLASS UPDATES

Tiffany & Rukhsana
(est. 1994)

From the beginning to the end,
you've always been here

right beside me, so I'll call you my BEST FRIEND.

Dear Tiffany,

It's finally here, the moment that seemed an eternity away, our high school graduation. It wasn't long ago we were sitting on your bed eating popcorn,playing dress up(although i always ended up withthe fried, teased hair..haha), and dancing in your living room Friday nights when we thought no one could see us. You have been a part of every memory I hold precious and true. As I lookback on my life, you have been that single person who i trust and count on. Together, we learned how to be real campers at Buck's Lake. In Spain, we depended on each other's strength when things seemed unclear. Now, we're off to our next journey, college. This time, even though we may not be traveling side by side you'll always remain the best friend I counted on as a child. Thanks for all the memories, laughs, and lessons. Always, Rukhsana

Dear Rukhsana,

It seems like only yesterday we were fighting in Mr. Dobbs class over your pomegranite stained Union Bays. Who knew that tiny arguement would evolve into the greatest friendship I have ever known. From RYLA to Bucks to Spain to Hawaii, we have made the best memories of my life. You have been my inspiration when I didn't want to try any more. You have been my comfort through every hard time in my life. You are more than a friend...it's indescribable what you have meant to me over these past eight years. I depend on you for strength, guidance, and most of all laughs and love. If we are separated in college next year, it will be tough, but I always know that you will be there for me no matter what, and whenever you call me, you know I'll be there. I love you more than anything...637. Love, Tiffany

The memories of eachother will always bring a smile to our faces. From our long car rides to "Just Talk"...to our short car rides to find some boys(men in Jeeps/Trucks and everythin in between!) Got anymore miles on the mirage? Gas is so cheap out in the valley than in Fremont. Girls, wheres the boys at? What about the changing in the trucks...Is it looking good? We love orange juice right Allison....does it taste good? Ewww what's that smell in here? Gosh the waterslides sure are GREAT....oh no where's O-Town? Coldstone Rules! Hey Ladies where's the party at..boys boys boys we sure do adore! Where is our Scottish band...Gina needs more counseling sessions..mission basketball...How much does it cost to live here? Car therapy is sure due! Girls rule and cheat....only if you going to San Francisco though...We're hngry..hungry for tacobell 1.92 anyone? How about McDonalds strawberry sundaes, extra peanuts please! Gosh we sre can whoop butt in wrestling...Thanks MSJ!Oh no...Gina the 4 wheel drive is stuck...OH GOSh we're in trouble! Hows the hill is it tall enough? Nope Higher! Allison you don't need to have a heart attack you'll be okay...Right Heather?

Allison, Gina, and Heather the fun has only begun....College boys here we come

Kennedy
DECA

People alaways ask me why I move around so much. I often have a hard time explaining the answer to that question. I thimk Henry David Thoreou had the right idea: In his book, Walden, he said, "I left the woods for as good a reason as I went there. Perhaps it seemed to me that I had several more lives to live, and cold not spare any more time for that one." If I weren't the nomad that I am, I would have never met all of you. In all the places that I have resided, a piece of me remains. Shakespeare said, "All the world's a stage." As a good actor, I want to make sure I make good use of that stage. My only regret is that I cannot fit a picture of everyone, who has come to mean something to me, on this page.

To my students: You have a wonderful school, a little spirit won't hurt you. Revel in your diversity and never be ashamed of your roots. Remember; the decisions you make today will affect tomorrow. There are so many of you whom I have come to admire for various reasons. However (comma) I do not have the space to list all your names. Thanks to all of you for making my stay at Kennedy an interesting one.

To the Kennedy staff and faculty: Thanks for making California hard to leave. You are doing an amazing work here and I am glad I was able to be a part of it, for a while.

Ms. Waller: Do you realize how many people here consider you their close friend? That should tell you how wonderful a person you are. I will miss making faces at your door.

God bless all of you and if you are ever in Texas (in the next few years. Who knows where I'll be after that.) give me a holler.

Love,

Denise Stricklin

As we passed through these halls one last time, we thought back on our experiences from the first day of school to the very last day. Whether they were full of happy or sad events, each year that went by in our quickly passing high school career we learned more and more about our true identity. "In high school the only person you need to be is yourself," Erin Atkinson (02). As we looked back on our past as Titans, we learned how to work together in our diverse student body, and were able to see beyond our skin color, to see each other's true colors inside. "Although people everywhere are usually more comfortable with others most like themselves, most students and staff genuinely enjoy, respect, and appreciate those of very different backgrounds. Our diversity is not only fun, but makes us all better, more mature, and more able to see the world as it really is today," said Miriam de Schweinitz (French Teacher). If these hallways could talk, then they would have so much to say about the daily life of a Titan. "One time me and Rod made a video; we ran across the street, doing some crazy stunts, and Rod fell off a tree. And it's also all on video. Haha," said Matt Griese (03). As we reminise and recollect on the last 180 days of school, whether you were a Surfing Senior, a Nick Junior, a Soph-War Jedi, a Freestyling Freshman, or an Alumnus, the memories that were created here were what life was all about. "It was our first time participating in Spirit Week and everything was so cool so next year will be even better because we experienced so much this year and it was fun!" commented Tara Pascale (05). From athletes, to honor students, and everyone in between, as time goes on, no matter where we all end up in the end, the time spent here will never be forgotten. "In this great future, you can't forget your past, because if you don't know where you came from, then you will never know where you're going to go." So when you are living your life and fulfilling your future, make sure you take some time out and "LOOK" back to where you'll always have a place, John F. Kennedy.
